Roland A. Augustine, in a surprise move at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, notified the aldermen that he was withdrawing his proposal to build an office building on Parcel 12 off Washington Avenue and with it the only formal opposition to the urban renewal agency's designation of James Berardi Inc. as the "qualified and eligible" developer.

Then, with the road to approval clear—Augustine was the only person to speak in opposition to Berardi's proposal to build a Adirondack Trailways Bus terminal on the site—the Common Council, in perhaps an even more unexpected move, failed to take any action at all on the Berardi proposal before recessing.

Alderman Clifford G. Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward), chairman of the Council's Urban Renewal Committee, was the lone alderman to speak on the subject and he was decidedly hostile. Sinsabaugh said the Common Council would be "totally remiss" if it didn't further investigate some of the questions raised by Augustine at Monday night's public hearing chaired by Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo.

Sinsabaugh addressed his initial questions as to whether Berardi, a Kingston contractor who has successfully bid in several millions of dollars of urban renewal work, failed to meet city specifications when he used plastic piping for sewage lines on the Clinton Avenue Extension project two years ago.

"There are a lot of unanswered questions, Sinsabaugh maintained. 'There is the question of the sewage work. The question of preferential treatment for Berardi by the agency. Verification of the sales tax.' (Trailways says it will generate $32,000 in sales tax at the bus terminal). Sinsabaugh also said there have been unconfirmed reports that Trailways plans to transfer its Albany terminal to Kingston.

Council approves second bicycle ordinance in less than four months. Story on page 40.

Augustine, in withdrawing his application to develop the parcel, forwarded two letters to the Council through Sinsabaugh. The first was addressed to Sinsabaugh where Augustine said rather than delay the uptown project any further he would withdraw. In that letter Augustine also suggested that there were enough votes in the Council (seven of 13 were needed) to approve the Berardi proposal.

The second letter was addressed to James G. Connors, urban renewal director notifying him of Augustine's intentions and also noting the "lack of support of the uptown (business) community" for Augustine's position.

Just when the Council will take up the Berardi matter wasn't discussed last night. The aldermen can be called back into session at any time this month by Council President Gallo.

In other action, the aldermen approved a revenue anticipation note for $488,073 for the city's secondary sewage treatment plant on the Strand. The money was requested by Mayor Francis R. Koenig who notes it is owed the city by the federal and state governments on the project but that it has not been paid as yet. Meanwhile, the plant is approaching completion and bills are due. The overall cost is $3.3 million with the city paying $935,165 with the state/federal share at $2,374,835.

The aldermen approved another request from the mayor on maintenance agreements for the Murray Street-Meadow Street connection of the Kingston North-South Arterial which the state plans to go to bid on within the next six weeks.

Three controversial zoning requests, strongly opposed by residents in the respective areas, were tabled for further study at the request of the Laws and Rules Committee which held public hearings on them Thursday night.

The Committee recommended against an R-2 to C-3 request by Joan Isgro at 366 Albany Avenue but that was tabled before a final vote; likewise for a single family attached units complex off Pettit Avenue and the Boulevard. And the same thing happened to Our Homes Inc. off Pearl Street where plans called for the construction of 35 units.

A zoning change from residential to commercial at 164-184 to 246-302 Wilbur Avenue requested by Bruce Brady was approved. He plans to open a store.

Dwyer Lighterage of 631-701 Abeel Street, which has been operating a gravel plant for more than 75 years, was given a zoning change from residential to industrial to continue that operation. Ward Alderman Daniel Smith (D-11th) noted the complaints of noise and dust by the residents and expressed the hope the firm would try to control same. He voted for the proposal.

AUTO PYRE—Cars lie overturned and on fire in front of the United Aircraft of Canada plant in Montreal. Violence broke out at the plant after strikers who had been out since Jan. 7, were told that a special investigator's report found that the company and the union appeared "unreconcilable at this time". ## Many Proposals Being Considered Energy and Economics

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stiff new fee on gasoline, surcharges on natural gas and electricity, and a tax break for insulating your home are among the energy saving proposals pondered by the Ford administration.

Administration spokesmen said Tuesday that these and other ideas were being circulated among White House and Cabinet officials with the aim of sending energy-conservation proposals to Congress as part of President Ford's economic package.

The proposals could come as early as next week, but spokesmen and officials said they were not yet in final shape and had not been approved by the President.

Among the tentative proposals were ideas to require industry planning for energy conservation, and to boost government publicity on fuel-saving methods.

A spokesman for the Federal Energy Office said the United States would gain two ways from strong conservation efforts.

They would allow a reduction of oil imports, reducing the outflow in the U.S. balance of payments.

And they would "show the world we mean business" as the United States seeks to rally oil-importing nations behind a campaign to reduce demand and force international oil prices down.

Another FEA source said still more energy-saving proposals may emerge later when the agency sends its Project Independence policy proposals to President Ford in November.

The spokesman and source provided these outlines of the conservation ideas under consideration for early proposal to Congress:

—A conservation fee on gasoline, at 10, 20 or 30 cents per gallon. This would raise the price at the pump to as much as 80 cents per gallon, but at least part of the fees collected might be refunded to the public through the income tax system.

Stock Market plunges to its lowest depth since Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962. Story on page 13.

—Owners of homes and commercial buildings might be allowed to purchase basic quotas of natural gas and electricity at normal prices; but graduated surcharges might be collected on excess use.

Large commercial buildings probably could reduce their use of electricity some 10 to 20 per cent, the FEA source said.

—Home owners who install insulation or storm windows might be allowed to deduct 20 to 30 per cent of the cost from their income tax payment.

—Industries might be required to develop energy conservation plans subject to federal approval, but the FEA has not indicated how such plans could be enforced.

Last winter's public appeals, followed by rising prices, cut energy consumption, and the FEA reports that even now, instead of the usual annual increase, energy consumption is barely back to last year's level.

Frost Raising Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food tail food prices might go up 3 price increases in 1975 may top 4 per cent each quarter during the first half of next year.

Current predictions because of killer frosts in Midwestern corn and soybean areas. Agriculture Department sources say.

Reduced corn and soybean crops can produce higher prices for meat, poultry and dairy products, because the two crops are used in feed for livestock.

One Agriculture Department source, who asked not be identified, said an estimate by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz that food prices may rise 8 to 10 per cent next year could be conservative if damage to fall crops is extensive.

"Until this latest weather trouble some were thinking refor military weapons increased $16.9 billion in the three months ended in June, mainly because of inflation, the Pentagon disclosed.

In other economic news Tuesday:

—A 5.5 per cent pay raise went into effect for 3.5 million federal workers. President Ford had sought to delay the increase until Jan. 1 but was overruled by the Senate.

—The Civil Aeronautics Board approved an air fare discount plan for United Airlines that would cut some fares by 25 per cent.

The new fares are for mid-week flights between cities at least 1,300 miles apart and will be in effect Oct. 15 to March 13 except Christmas and Thanksgiving. The plan would cut coach fare between Chicago and Los Angeles, for example, from $280 to $210.

—Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the White House is not considering gasoline rationing.

—The estimated cost of ma-harvest, however, is not planned by USDA until Oct. 10, reflecting crop conditions as of the first of the month. Late planting last spring and drought in the summer already have reduced prospects far below indications six months ago.

Department officials have predicted retail food prices for all of 1974 will average 15 to 17 per cent higher than they did last year when they showed a 14.5 per cent gain over 1972.

Butz told a news conference Aug. 26, "we don't anticipate anything like a 10 per cent increase" in food prices next year. He said again this week an 8 to 10 per cent increase was likely.

However, USDA food economists say they have not formed solid price estimates for all of 1975. But one said Butz has described what may happen during the first half of next year.

Some new estimates will be made in early November. One reason for the delay is that economists want to look at the Oct. 10 crop production figures.

Paltz Police to Consolidate

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — The heads of both the town and village boards in New Paltz report agreement on the consolidation of the two municipalities' police forces into one, with a Jan. 1 target date, and with formal contract signing expected in "the very near future," but the plan has the outspoken opposition of the village board's police committee head.

Village Trustee John Logan, the village board's police committee head, Tuesday called the plan "a disaster for the village." He objected to the way the combined department will be funded, and the way it will be governed.

According to the plan agreed upon by the two governments at a closed meeting last week, the new combined department will be housed in the new police addition the village is adding to the village hall. All police with civil service classification will come into the new department with their rating and seniority protected. It will be governed by a three-member, "non-partisan," unsalaried commission, and the two governments will split the cost of the department equally. "At least qualifications for the commission, who must have the approval of both boards for selection, had not yet been decided upon. They'll have to be men of experience, though," said DuBois. "No question about it. Logan said Tuesday that he contribution toward the rent was so against the present plan will be really seriously hurt," that he would argue against it according to Logan. He said the when the village board village contains only 39 per cent of the town's assessed valuation, he said, "I'm going to recommend and will be paying a that the village go out of the police business entirely," something he said would save village about $100,000 a year. Logan was not present at last week's joint meeting, when the present plan was agreed to. He said that was "nobody's fault" but his own, "since he had the wrong date for the meeting. Logan said this plan had been agreed upon by the village board, and called it a doublecross. He also opposes the commission idea. He said it was arrived at to keep him off. The commissioners are supposed to be non-political, but Logan said they would be selected as a "Republican caucus," since all five members of the town board, and three members of the village board, are Republicans.

He is in favor of eschewing a commission, and leaving control of the combined department in the hands of both boards, something he says has worked for New Paltz' well-regarded Emergency Communications Center.

Those involved in combining the two departments do not see the move as saving much money. Lasher said it would save some money, especially in car purchases, but that was secondary. The main thing, he said, was if the combined department "works better."

Logan agrees that the combined department, at least from a law enforcement standpoint if nothing else, will be better than the two department situation New Paltz now has. "I think the consolidation will provide a hell of a lot better police department," he said.

The new department's chief will be selected by the commission, when they are appointed, according to both Lasher and DuBois, but both would need the approval of both governments.

The withdrawal of Greece from NATO's southern flank mission, which has deepened the gap already existing there," Sancar said. "Under the responsibility of member governments, 'There are reports that the countries will increase.'

Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., called the amendment, author Scott's charge a "red herring" and said Secretary of State Kissinger had violated the laws limiting U.S. aid to countries which only defend themselves. Ford warned that approval of the resolution, "containing the Eagleton amendment or similar language, would destroy any hope for the success of the initiatives the United States has already taken or may take in the future to contribute to a just settlement of the Cyprus dispute."

Also attached to the resolution was an amendment to cut off military aid to Chile. The amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., approved 47-41, would affect halting aid to any country some $15 million a year in

Senate Halts Aid to Turkey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted despite the threat of a presidential veto to prohibit further U.S. military aid to Turkey because of its invasion of Cyprus.

The Senate approved the measure Tuesday by a 72-16 vote a few hours after President Ford announced he would veto a resolution containing it because it "would destroy any hope" for "successful U.S. efforts to settle the Cyprus dispute between Turkey and Greece."

A move by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott to send the resolution back to committee with instructions to delete the Turkish arms aid cutoff lost on a 59-29 vote.

School Denies Derby Match

KINGSTON — The Roller Derby match, supposedly scheduled for Thursday and Friday "in the gym" of the Kingston High School, and supposedly sponsored by the high school, is not going to be held.

William J. Hurley, director of athletics and physical education at the high school, said today, "No one in the school system knows of any such event."

Hurley said the advertisement for the roller derby was reportedly given to the Daily Freeman by a Dennis Edwards, who claimed to be a member of the physical education staff at the high school. Hurley said no one by that name is on his staff, and he hadn't even been able to locate a student named "Dennis Edwards."

Commissioners Approve Exam

KINGSTON — The Board of Fire Commissioners has authorized a second non-competitive examination for Acting Fire Chief Robert L. Maines, giving Maines what will probably be his last chance for permanent appointment as chief of the department.

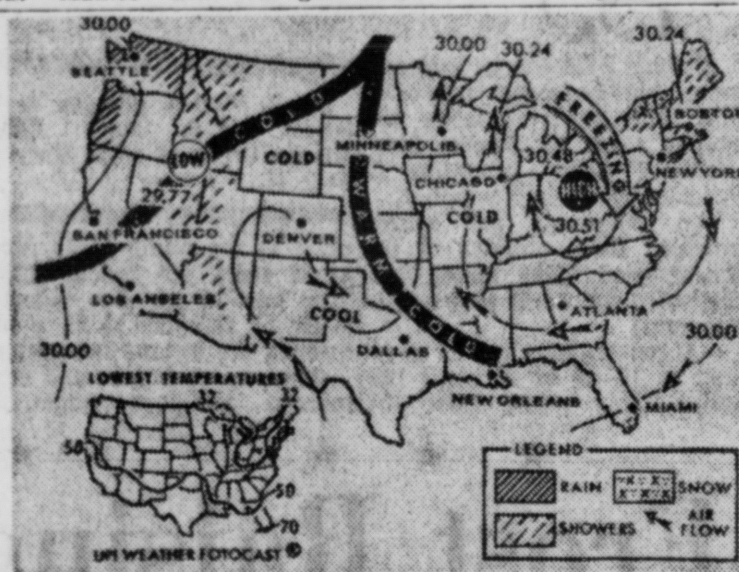

Maines, who will mark his 27th year with the department on Jan. 1, was named acting fire chief in March of 1972 when Chief James M. Brett retired. The fire commissioners approved the first non-competitive examination for Maines the following June but Maines failed to achieve a passing grade of 70 when the test was administered in November of 1972.

The issue became somewhat clouded after it was announced that Maines had failed the exam. At first it was announced that the post would be thrown open to competitive examination. Then it was learned that the fire board was seeking a non-competitive oral examination for Maines. The last word on that was in February of this year.

It has now been confirmed through Civil Service sources that Maines will be given

Quest Continues for Jurors in Watergate Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — J. Sirica as the cover-up trial goes into its second day. "It probably will be one of the most important things you will ever have to do in your life if you are selected to serve on this jury," Sirica told the 65 prospects who survived preliminary screening Tuesday.

He summoned another 175 District of Columbia residents for first-round questioning today and another batch for Thursday as he strives to weed out those who might come to court with their minds already made up.

The quest for 12 jurors and six alternates continues today before U.S. District Judge John

The slow, painstaking process of jury selection resulted Tuesday in 90 persons being excused after pleading health, family or business problems would make it impossible for them to be sequestered for the three-to-four month trial.

A jury was not expected to be seated for several more days.

The defendants — former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, once high White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former Nixon campaign official Robert C. Mardian and campaign lawyer

Kenneth W. Parkinson — sat glumly as the jury search continued. Haldeman wore a gold tie clip bearing the presidential seal and a tiny etched signature of Richard Nixon. Mitchell's face was ashen as he entered the courtroom with a lawyer at each elbow and slumped into a chair. Ehrlichman, on his way into the courthouse, had been sequestered by a group of youths calling themselves Yippies and spat on by one of them.

A few of the defendants swiveled around to look when Sirica asked prospective jurors to stand if they harbored "any mental reservations whatsoever" that the defendants were innocent men unless proven guilty. No one rose.

As the questions continued, one man said he knew defendant Parkinson, another said his father was acquainted with bugging conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. and a third volunteered that his mother once had been arrested and fined for a sit-in at the Pentagon. None was immediately excused.

The central figure in the Jeb Stuart Magruder, who has pleaded guilty in the cover-up and is now in prison, and Alexander P. Butterfield, who revealed existence of the White House taping system.

Sirica opened the trial in the cavernous Ceremonial Courtroom, where he began the Watergate bugging trial 21 months ago. When preliminary jury screening is over, he will shift to his own smaller courtroom four floors below for individual questioning of each prospective juror.

Sirica warned the jury panel members straightaway that they would be sealed away from the world for the duration of the trial to guard against possible influence, living in a nearby motel and eating their meals together. Expeditions to the movies and even to church will be under the watchful eyes of U.S. marshals.

The standard federal jury fee is $20 per day, though many employers — including the government — pay the difference between that and an employee's regular salary.

Nixon's Blood Clot Shrinking, but . . .

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The blood clot on Richard Nixon's right lung is shrinking, improving his health, but apparently without changing the recommended long convalescence that is keeping him off the witness stand at the Watergate cover-up trial.

The former president's doctor said Tuesday that a lung scan revealed a "partial resolution," or reduction in size, of the clot in Nixon's lung, and showed that no more clots were forming.

Nixon has been in Long Beach Memorial Hospital for nine days, receiving anticoagulant drugs to combat blood clotting caused by a phlebitis condition that began when he was in office.

His physician, Dr. John Lungren, said Monday that Nixon has been subpoenaed by both prosecution and defense attorneys and his "evidence of partial resolution" would rule out stand appearance on the witness stand for at least a month, point of the trial.

The clot had traveled through the bloodstream from Nixon's left leg to his right lung, where it lodged and caused a dime-sized embolism, an area of blocked circulation.

Lungren said there was evidence of partial resolution of the clot in the right lung and "no evidence of any additional fresh emboli in the lungs."

Lungren earlier said the final decision on what action Nixon should take in answer to the Watergate trial subpoenas was up to Nixon. But Lungren said, his medical advice was that Nixon should not answer even written questions, or give a deposition, for at least three weeks.

Following that, there should be a lengthy convalescence, in which Nixon should not travel nor spend long periods sitting up, the physician said.

'Unbelievable Progress' for Betty Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Betty Ford is making "unbelievable progress" in her recovery from cancer surgery, her husband says.

"She was in great spirits," President Ford told reporters Saturday and learned Monday that microscopic traces of the cancer were found in two of 30 lymph nodes also removed.

But according to the President, don't think it's that far along cancer from spreading, yet, but the doctors think she not qualified to say that, he and encouragement. Mrs. Ford was eager to get back to the White House. "Well, I think they have stopped the cancer from spreading," he said.

Asked if Mrs. Ford was eager to get back to the White House, Ford was asked if the doctors thought she was qualified to say that, he replied but "I hope so." Mrs. Ford ate solid food for the first time Tuesday, watched television and visited with friends and family.

"She is regaining her strength," a medical bulletin said. "Her temperature has returned to normal and all other vital signs continue normal. Her spirits are excellent."

Kissinger Gives Views on Mideast Tour

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hopes his coming Middle East tour will result in constructive new ideas from Israel and the Arab countries for renewing negotiations for peace.

He also believes conditions will be favorable in the next year and a half for making progress on a 10-year arms control agreement with the Soviet Union to replace the current interim pact limiting some strategic nuclear weapons.

The Ford administration currently is putting the finishing touches on its new position on strategic arms control, reconciling differences of approach between Kissinger and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Kissinger's views were relayed by reliable diplomatic sources as the United States and the Soviet Union said simultaneously Tuesday the secretary of state would hold talks in Moscow with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev Oct. 23-27.

The State Department announced Monday that Kissinger also would make a lightning trip to Egypt, Syria, Israel and Jordan in a separate journey beginning Oct. 9.

Dramatic Ending To Podell Trial

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charges against him on grounds that the two charges entailed sufficient punishment to "serve the interest of justice."

The prosecutor also noted that Podell, who was defeated in last month's primary election, had disqualified himself for life from any federal service by pleading guilty to the charges.

Following Podell's surprise admission, co-defendant Martin Miller of Miami, former head of the airline, pleaded guilty to one charge of conspiracy to use Podell's influence before federal agencies to obtain the Bahamas route.

The Assistant U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani, who prosecuted the case, accepted Podell's plea of guilty to two of the eight charges against him on grounds that the two charges entailed sufficient punishment to "serve the interest of justice."

Sheriff: 'I'll Set the Record Straight'

SHERIFF WILLIAM B. MARTIN
... an explanation

KINGSTON officer — not a politician — Legislature in his 1974 budget more than two months. Martin met him in the Montgomery Town of Ulster Police who said that despite orders to the Ward parking lot in the Town arrive at the parking lot — where the sister is now waiting. The father hung up the — with light flashing and siren phone and said, "Call the kids on the lam to show deputy, and said, 'The cook's alarm sheriff, give me a few minutes themselves. Since the two were not armed or dangerous I didn't much publicized escape of the set in motion the immediate to get there and we'll keep the no' armed or dangerous I didn't search of the area." A deputy kid talking until your people get send the alarm over the father Martin said he knew, instead of calling me as he you that one of the first rules of good law enforcing is not to alarm people unduly — and there was no need to do so in this case. The boys were subsequently picked up and returned to the jail," Martin stated.

Claiming that "There has been so much politicking, misinformation, inuendo and grandstanding by the opposition in the campaign for the office of sheriff that the public must be punch drunk," Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin has issued a press release stating that he will attempt "to set the record straight with the facts" during the next three weeks. "Let me say at the outset that I am a law enforcement officer charged with the responsibility request. I try not to fill vacancies contrary, a cook-deputy allowed of Ulster, Martin said. The boys' ran off, deputy, and said, 'Call the kids on the lam to show deputy, and said, 'The cook's alarm sheriff, give me a few minutes themselves. Since the two were not armed or dangerous I didn't much publicized escape of the set in motion the immediate to get there and we'll keep the no' armed or dangerous I didn't search of the area." A deputy kid talking until your people get send the alarm over the father Martin said he knew, instead of calling me as he you that one of the first rules of good law enforcing is not to alarm people unduly — and there was no need to do so in this case. The boys were subsequently picked up and returned to the jail," Martin stated.

Schermerhorn Hits Campaign Tactics

KINGSTON State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.) stepped into the campaign for sheriff in Ulster County this week with a harshly worded statement critical of the incumbent Democratic candidate for Sheriff William B. Martin.

Schermerhorn accused the sheriff of allowing a sheriff department car to be used "to chauffeur a county employee for the sole purpose of re-electing Martin."

The Cornwall senator said he normally doesn't get involved in the campaign of other individuals but at this time feels he must change that procedure in view of what he calls a flagrant violation on the part of the sheriff.

Explaining, Schermerhorn said that "While in Ellenville the other day, I witnessed a sheriff department vehicle stop at a curb, and an elderly man got out and talked to a store owner. He asked a merchant if he would display a sign in his window advertising the reelection of Sheriff Martin."

Schermerhorn said he later found out that "this man was Morris Friedman, who was employed by the Sheriff's Department. I was also told that the reason a uniformed employee of the Sheriff's Department was driving him around in a sheriff department vehicle was because he had wrecked a department car just a few days ago."

The senator said it was unbelievable to him that "the sheriff department has the right to use department vehicles to chauffeur around another county employee for the sole purpose of reelecting Sheriff Martin."

"This is a gross misuse of the taxpayer's money," Schermerhorn said, adding that, "It also disturbed the merchants that were asked to display the signs."

Schermerhorn said he contacted one of Martin's opponents, Republican Thomas Mayone and asked him if he would ever do such a thing if he were sheriff of Ulster County. "He told me he would not and I believe him," the senator said.

Martin's other opponent is Yvonne Walliser of West Hurley, running on an Independent line.

Meanwhile, Mayone commented on what he called "the unusual campaign tactics of Sheriff Department employees."

"This high pressure approach to the voter is an outrage to the American tradition of fair play," he said. "This is the latest indication of a moral and ethical decay existing in the current Sheriff's Department."

"The Ulster County taxpayer must be protected from this outrageous abuse of public funds," he concluded.

SENATOR R. E. SCHERMERHORN
... enters the fray

"I might also add that had the Legislature agreed to erect the cyclone fence that I asked for when the new jail was being built the boys could not have made it into the woods under any circumstances. The cook-deputy was fired, and the deputy was given the choice, resign or be fired. He quit. Disgruntled former employees do not paint rosy pictures of the man who fired them," he said.

"There are some very dedicated people working in the Ulster County Sheriff's Department. The wonder of it is that they stay on. The turnover in personnel in the Sheriff's Department is basically due to the very low wage scale. It is extremely hard to attract and keep people who have the potential to be good law enforcement personnel when they are not offered a living wage," the sheriff concluded.

'I Don't Make Comparisons'

By MATT SPIRENG

ALBANY "I don't know how I got dragged into this," said New York State Commission of Correction administrator Morton G. Van Hoesen Tuesday on being informed that Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin, at his first press conference in the campaign for sheriff, had quoted him as saying, "Martin happens to be one of the best sheriffs we have in the State of New York."

While asserting that he really didn't want to say anything about Martin's statement, Van Hoesen, chief administrator of the Commission which is currently in the midst of an investigation of the Ulster County Jail that has been underway for nearly a month, said, "I am very careful that I don't make comparisons among jails of the state or sheriffs of the state."

Explaining that in his position on the Commission that oversees all jails and prisons in the state he must "remain objective," Van Hoesen went on to say, "There seems to be a rumor going around that I am Sheriff Martin's protector." He denied that such is the case.

Martin's statement was made Tuesday in answer to a reporter's question concerning various critical reports on the Ulster County Jail, including such reports by the Commission of Correction.

Martin said that the Governor's Council had received a complaint call from someone in Ulster County and that they in turn called Van Hoesen concerning the jail situation. Martin said Van Hoesen told the Governor's Council, "What have you got, an election going on in Ulster County? Martin happens to be one of the best sheriffs we have in the State of New York."

Martin said that Van Hoesen's statement was made "around the time of" a March inspection at the jail which resulted in criticism of the administration of the facility.

A second, and much more detailed probe of the Ulster County Jail is currently underway by the investigative unit of the Commission of Correction. The current probe has reportedly led to the designation of Ulster County Jail as a "priority" item on the Oct. 8 meeting of the Correction Commissioners in New York City.

The current investigation is reportedly focusing on the administration of the jail as well as whether previous Commission recommendations issued after the March investigation are being followed. Exactly what has been uncovered by the current investigation has not been revealed.

Van Hoesen declined to speculate Tuesday about the outcome of the meeting of the commissioners, which will be closed to the public and press.

'Crime Breeds On Weakness'

WEST HURLEY

"Women are too often the victims of crime to ignore the necessity of becoming active in its prevention," Yvonne Walliser, Independent candidate for sheriff of Ulster County said today.

Walliser said that "those who would keep a woman insulated from the realities of the modern world, help create the kind of ignorance that makes her helpless. This can no longer be tolerated," she said.

"Crime breeds on weakness," she said, "and women as well as men must understand the causes of crime, its effects on society and ways of prevention to combat its rising menace to our community."

The West Hurley mother of two noted that one of her opponents, incumbent Democratic candidate William B. Martin was recently quoted as saying that it was "inconceivable" to him that a county of "rugged men" would elect a woman and a mother as sheriff to face "the dreadful dangers of a mob violence that could erupt at any moment."

"But," Walliser said, "One of the reasons why I am seeking the post is to protect myself and my children from the kind of violence that has become commonplace in our jail and the world in general, violence that became inevitable because of the inadequacies in the outlook and the talents of those who administer what can only loosely be called justice."

Walliser said "The methods we have used to deal with the law breakers in this county are long outdated, not because human nature has changed, but precisely because it hasn't changed."

"Treat a person badly, lock him up, and throw away the key for a month or a year," she said. "And you get exactly what you should expect — resentment, frustration, hostility."

"The 90 per cent return rate of offenders at the Ulster County Jail is proof enough that the old law enforcement methods do not work, and probably never did," she said.

"Our jail has become no more than a lockup. What it must become is a true correctional institution providing a chance for those who have broken the laws to renew themselves. And that is what my candidacy offers," Walliser said.

"Law enforcement is necessary. Rugged men ready and willing to handle the violent criminal are necessary. But crime prevention is also necessary, more so now than ever before — and not only from the standpoint of our own safety, but for economic reasons as well," she said.

"We taxpayers are not only paying about $200 a week to keep a prisoner in jail. But we are also paying to keep that same prisoner's family on welfare," she added.

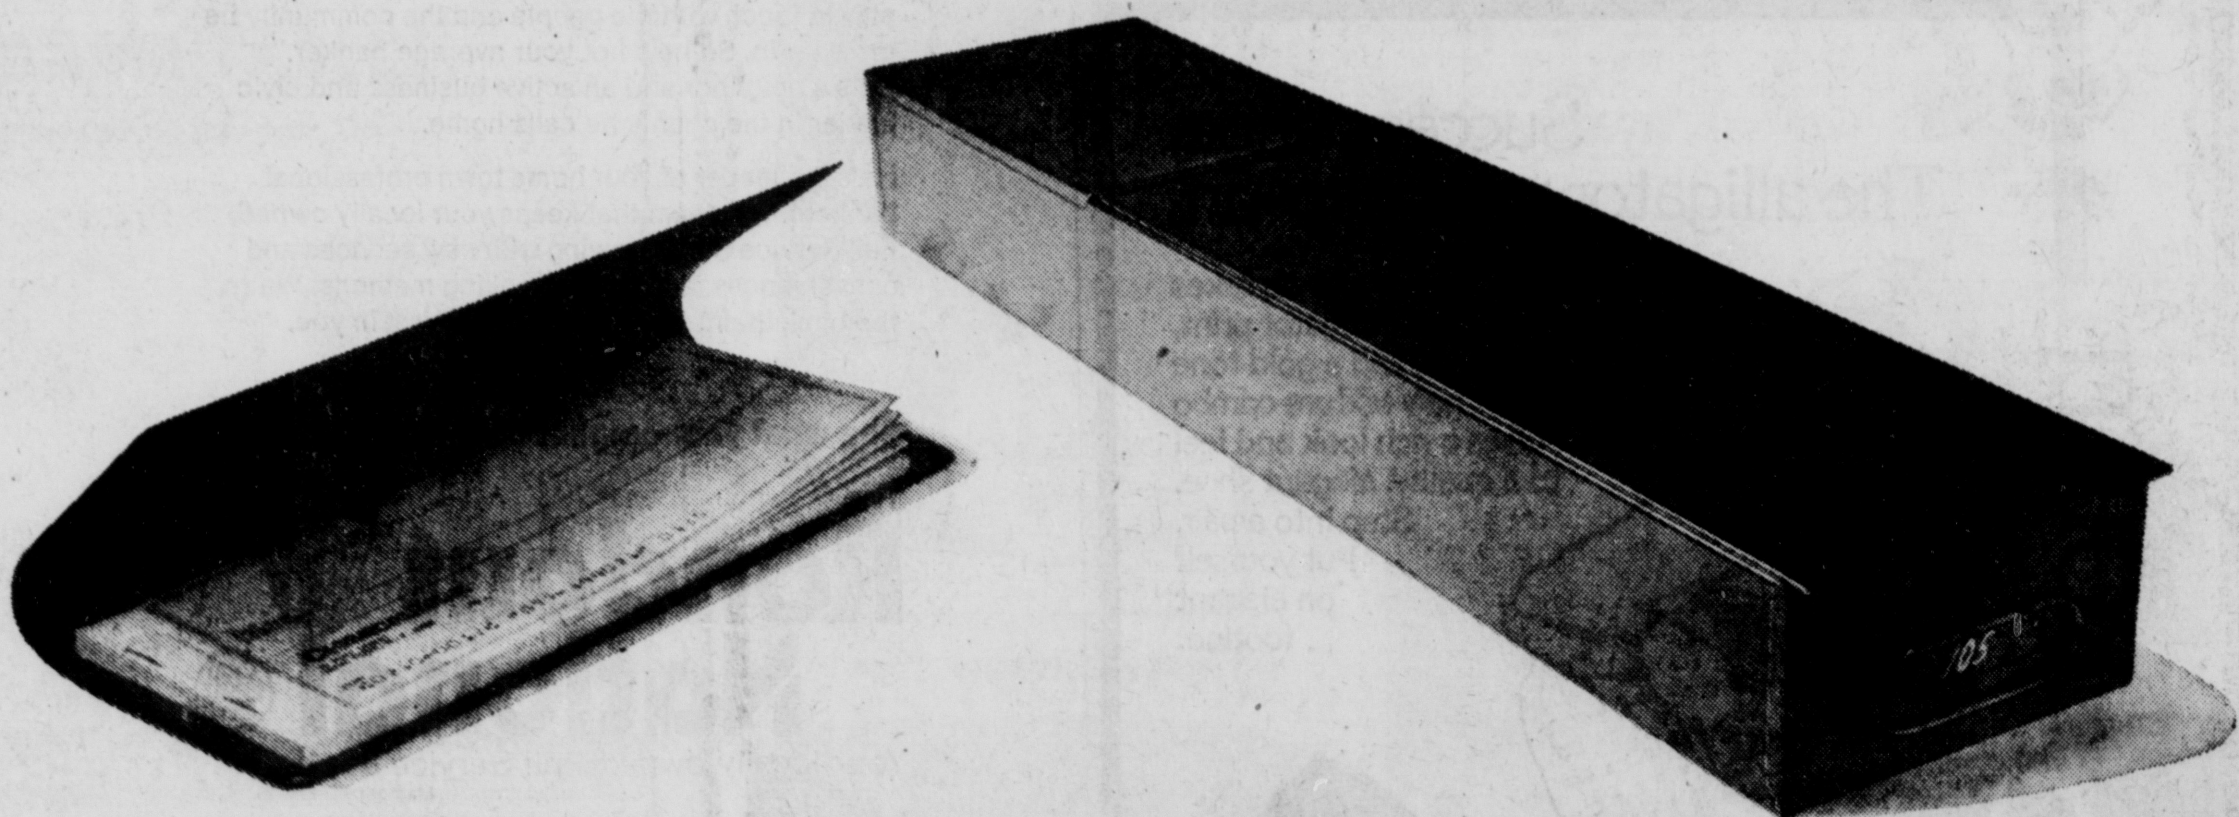

Walliser concluded, "We must do more with the criminal justice system in Ulster County and my candidacy offers the voters that choice."

She is also opposing Republican candidate for sheriff Thomas Mayone of Saugerties, an investigator for the District Attorney's Office.

The "Yes" Bank comes to Kingston.

If you get Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge at our new Kingston Branch, we'll say "Yes" to a free checking account and a free safe deposit box.*

Chemical Bank Hudson Valley, N.A. is pleased to announce the grand opening of a new branch in Kingston. We're so pleased, in fact, that we're giving away a free checking account and a free safe deposit box* for one year to every customer who applies for and receives Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge card. And we'll say "yes" to both No-Bounce Checking and a ChemBank Master Charge as long as you're over eighteen, steadily employed, earn at least a hundred dollars a week and won't be in over your head.

No-Bounce Checking. Chemical's No-Bounce Privilege Checking says "yes" when your checkbook says "no." So you can write checks for more than your balance. It's even a way to write yourself a loan.

And Chemical checking accounts include "simplified statements." So your checks come back in the order you write them.

ChemBank Master Charge. It's good for a "yes" at stores, restaurants and hotels anyplace. And you can borrow cash at any Master Charge bank, anywhere in the world.

Grand Sweepstakes. While you're at our branch opening celebration, be sure to fill out an entry blank for our Grand Sweepstakes. You could win five minutes of free shopping at the Waldbaum Supermarket in the Caldor's Shopping Center and take home up to $300 worth of groceries.

So stop in at our new branch and say hello to manager John Ledwith. Our celebration extends to Thursday, October 31. We're open 9 A.M. to 3 P.M., Monday through Thursday, with our drive-in window open 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. On Fridays, our hours are 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. and 5:30 P.M. to 7 P.M., with our drive-in window open from 9 A.M. to 7 P.M. During the opening celebration only, we have special Saturday hours on September 14, 21 and 28 from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M.

Mason Cites Job Record

Many new jobs have been created and many others "saved" in his 48th Senatorial District, State Senator Edwyn E. Mason said, through a State Job Development Authority program that has provided more than $2 million in loans to more than a score of industries.

The 23 loans, for construction, expansion and rehabilitation of plants, total $2,300,288, a sum that has been helped to finance industrial projects totaling $7,895,309 in the six counties comprising Senator Mason's district.

Job Development Authority grants low cost, long term second mortgage loans for up to 40 per cent of project cost through local non-profit industrial development corporations to aid in constructing a new industrial or research facilities, on the acquisition, expansion or rehabilitation of existing industrial plants.

Senator Mason explained, JDA loans are also available to help finance up to 90 per cent for industrial pollution control facilities.

Loans in Ulster County totaled $322,500 toward a total outlay of $1,099,965. Included were loans to the Town of Esopus Industrial Development Corp., Port Ewen for Jack Camps Metal Spinning Co., and Dana Manufacturing Corp., Esopus, metal spinning and flameless space heaters, $28,500 toward $119,965; Ellenville Industrial Expansion Corp., Ellenville, for VAW of America, aluminum bullets and tubing, $294,000 toward $980,000 project.

"The state program resulted from a vote of the people in 1961 approving a constitutional amendment, and was broadened in 1973 to provide a special purpose loan plan that was implemented at the session in Albany this year," Mason said.

"Total job figures under the program are difficult to establish exactly because of changing economic conditions and changing circumstances of individual firms.

"The program's objectives, which are to help manufacturers build new or expand old facilities, are of broad economic benefit to the firms themselves, the wage earners in their plants, to the participating banks and to the communities in general. I am glad to have supported such a beneficial plan that has thus far been wisely carried out."

Rep. Robison Concerned About Dairy Prices

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Acutely disturbed about the distorted cost-price ratios confronting American dairymen, Congressman Howard W. Robison (R-27th Dist.) has joined 33 other members of Congress in requesting that President Gerald R. Ford meet with congressmen from leading dairy states.

In a telegram sent to Ford, the congressman urged that Ford immediately call a meeting in the White House to discuss the problems involved and alternative courses of action that might be taken.

Robison said that the nation's dairy community faces a severe morale problem and that dairy men are going out of business with increasing irregularity.

He said this is not a scare tactic or idle threat used by farmers to get attention for their cause — it is happening all across the United States and with particular frequency in our greatest dairy producing states.

"There is a feeling among dairymen that public officials don't care about what is happening to them because 'we can always import our dairy needs from the future,' he said.

"But we all know we can't import good, wholesome dairy products on a guaranteed basis for any length of time. If the dairy farmer is not soon given some stability in the market and confidence in the future marketability of his products, we could seriously jeopardize an adequate domestic supply of milk products for U. S. consumers in the long run," the congressman said.

The congressman called the crisis "a very serious one" saying they would like a delegation comprised of members of congress from the leading states to meet with the President at his earliest convenience and at that time provide input and discuss those points that need to be dealt with in formulating positive policy initiatives.

Water Problems Arise in Olive

ASHOKAN $13,750 bid of the H. H. Kleibenstein Co. of Carlsbad, N.J., to furnish a used Gradall excavator for the highway department. Crawford said that She got the man a job but he town was required to do in future for a tennis court, he said.

Mrs. Dorothy Hartman complained Tuesday night to the Olive Town Board about conditions at the Twin Oaks Trailer Park in Shokan.

She said that park residents had been hauling in drinking water for 10 weeks and displayed several samples of discolored water she said was from her faucet, along with a stained T-shirt laundered in it.

Supervisor Oliver Crawford noted that the town had no jurisdiction over water supplies. Mrs. Hartman said she had contacted the Ulster County Board of Health on several occasions and had gotten a "royal runaround." She read a letter from State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz saying his agency had no jurisdiction to sue in private matters and suggesting she take it to Small Claims Court.

Mrs. Hartman alleged that the owner, William Downie, had a water softener on the premises but had not installed it, and said he had misinformed officials about steps taken to correct violations. She charged he was in violation of several sections of the local law governing trailer parks.

Zoning Enforcement Officer Ray Lijla told the board that there were "at least seven" violations of the trailer ordinance regarding density, space between trailers, setbacks from roads, and other matters. He said the owner had been notified a month ago to clean up violations but had made no response. He said he wanted to contact Town Attorney John Lynch to learn what the next legal step should be.

Lijla also said that Downie's brother had failed to register five trailers with the town. He said that application forms had been sent two weeks ago but there had been no reply and that Lynch would begin legal action on Oct. 18 unless the owner responded.

Councilman Peter Tosi Jr. introduced a resolution calling for a five-member committee to study the relative merits of the three-member Board of Assessors the town now has and an alternative single appointed assessor.

"I'm not advocating either system," Tosi said. "The committee should not take a stand, just study both systems and make a report."

Councilman Herbert Wells, noting that the town had voted down the single assessor system three years ago, said he felt there should be members of the committee not directly involved with assessment. Crawford suggested that the matter be tabled until the October meeting.

The board accepted the

Favorable Audit for Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — The State Department of Audit and Control had no major criticisms of the books of the Ellenville Central School District in its recently-released audit of the district for the period of July 1, 1971 to June 30, 1973.

The report of audit, however, which was dated Sept. 3, and signed by Francis O'Bryan as examiner in charge, did recommend that the district adopt changes in procedure in certain areas.

The auditors did find all the money they were looking for, as Business Manager and District Clerk Sol Sashin pointed out; this is the main point of an audit.

The auditors had no criticism of the district's disbursement procedures, compensation for personal services, levying of taxes, claims, appropriation control, oaths of office, and official undertakings.

In other areas, the Department of Audit and Control said $60,600 from a bond anticipation note should not have been commingled with the general fund, the bond and coupon account should be periodically reconciled, another procedure should be used for recording real property taxes, both fixed assets and federal funds should be accounted for in a double-entry system, and the library should have gotten all the money from taxes levied for it in 1972-73.

Sashin said the bond anticipation note was for buying buses, and since only three checks were going to be written for the money it had not seemed worthwhile to get a separate account for it; he said the schools library had not gotten all the tax money because too much was in taxes had been levied that year and the extra money had contained no criticism. In addition to the general fund, the district has received an audit from Rieger and Greenberg, the district's auditors. The audits are procedures recommended by the auditors would be put into effect, though he said the way in Sashin's office.

The district was now doing the things in those areas was either simpler, or less costly, or both, he said with the $17,870,522. The Town of Wawarsing contained $16,240,381 of that amount, the Town of Sashin was clerk, Leo M. Rochester $45,990, and the Town of Henderson was treasurer of Mamakating $1,584,191.

Sense of Movement

Whatever it may produce in the way of specific actions, the national conference on inflation has at least provided a sense of movement which may give the anti-inflation battle fresh momentum. President Ford tacitly recognized the importance of this when he called upon all Americans "to join me in a great effort . . . to become inflation fighters and energy savers."

If such a popular undertaking were to catch on throughout the country, that undoubtedly would help to combat our economic troubles. Still, the larger question is what steps the government will take. The President's only specific policy assertion came when, in his closing remarks, he reiterated his promise to hold the federal budget in the current fiscal year to no more than $300 billion. Thus the general question remains wide open.

The President did provide some tools for policy formulation and action. He announced creation of an economic policy board which, under the leadership of Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, will serve as the chief policy drafting body and will replace a variety of advisory groups. Mr. Ford also established a White House labor-management committee which holds some promise of resolving differences at an early stage, and of devising improved manpower policies.

These new groups and the Council of Wage and Price Stability formed by act of Congress to monitor wage and price actions will be useful in implementing the administration program. What the program will be remains to be seen.

In general the conference delegates also seemed to favor more vigorous government efforts to deal with the energy shortage—stricter conservation measures, a firm line with oil-producing nations, stepped-up development of domestic energy sources. Reimposition of wage and price controls was generally opposed. There was considerable feeling that the Federal Reserve System should liberalize credit policy somewhat.

All in all, the thrust was for taking stronger action without delay. Though this view was sometimes couched in terms critical of the administration, it is plain that President Ford and his advisors share this basic attitude. Soon we will know how they translate that concern into concrete plans.

Secrecy of the CIA

Congress should practice care in its demand for a closer accounting of the activities and expenditures of the Central Intelligence Agency. Rep. Michael Harrington, a Massachusetts Democrat, has called for a congressional investigation of assistance the CIA gave to the opposition in Chile during the career of the late Salvador Allende, who tried to turn that South American republic into a Marxist State. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has now picked up the issue.

President Ford has said there is no basis for reports that the CIA helped to engineer the coup last year in which Allende lost his life. Further, he gave a plausible reason for the U. S. government's efforts to help preserve an opposition voice in a country sliding toward a Communist dictatorship. "Our government, like other governments," President Ford said, "does take certain actions in the intelligence field to help implement foreign policy and protect national security."

It is difficult to judge the right or wrong in any CIA activity in Chile because it is not a matter of public knowledge what other governments were doing to try to deliver Chile into the Communist camp. However, it can be assumed that the Soviet Union's KGB was not sitting idly by during the upheaval in Chile. The KGB is a powerful and well-financed arm of the Soviet government and it is their purpose to initiate dissension wherever possible between the United States and its friends and allies.

This is what the CIA is up against in its own intelligence operations abroad, and it makes more understandable the secrecy which it is obligated to employ in its activities.

Representative Harrington himself has offered a compelling reason why the CIA should not be required to report everything it does to Congress. William E. Colby, CIA director, outlined the extent of the agency's activities in Chile at a closed meeting of a House subcommittee—a confidence that was violated by Mr. Harrington.

Congress should worry less about the necessarily secret operations of a highly sensitive intelligence agency and worry more about its own inability to prevent leaks of sensitive information it does obtain under a promise of confidentiality.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — International Telephone and Telegraph dispatched one of America's top bugging experts into the homes and government palace of Chilean president Salvador Allende in 1971.

The alleged purpose of this mysterious mission was to "de-bug" Allende's rooms and to train Chilean police and army men in electronic de-bugging techniques. Interestingly, it was the military which later overthrew Allende.

The visit of master-bugger John Ragan came a ITT, the CIA and the U.S. Embassy in Santiago were busily seeking information to help them get the socialist Allende out of office. Allende was nationalizing American companies in Chile, including ITT.

Ragan, an ex-FBI electronic specialist, is best known as the man called in by the White House "plumbers" to bug the home of columnist Joseph Kraft. But in the "business," Ragan is respected as an awesome pro: a specialist called in to de-bug the quarters of such notables as Richard Nixon, former Attorney General John Mitchell, Charles "Bebe" Rebozo and others.

On his trip to turbulent Chile, Ragan took along a load of "offensive" bugging equipment. Secret Watergate documents show he was accompanied down by ITT's assistant security director, Russell Tagliareni.

The documents reveal that Ragan stayed in Chile from April 28, 1971, to May 5, 1971, and was paid $200 a day by ITT. While there, Ragan, at the invitation of the army and police, entered Allende's homes at Valparaiso and Santiago, and his presidential palace.

According to Ragan, he and Allende once sat down and had coffee. There the Chilean leader learned that Ragan worked for ITT. Ragan describes the conversation as "cordial."

No one seems to know why ITT, a relentless enemy of Allende's, was allowed in his dwellings, much less why the Chilean president let an ITT agent conduct "electronic sweeps" of his rooms at a time when planting of bugs was widely feared in Chile. Allende cannot explain: He died from gunshot wounds in the coup.

But as we reported on March 21, 1972, ITT had made approaches "to select members of the Armed Forces in an attempt to have them lead some sort of uprising" in late 1970, only a few months before ITT and the Chilean army helped arrange Ragan's visit.

The ITT electronics mission is even more puzzling in view of a secret ITT memo dated Sept. 29, 1970, from ITT Vice President L. J. Gerrity to ITT President Harold Geneen. In the memo, Gerrity advises "We should withdraw all technical help (to Chile) and should not promise any technical assistance in the future."

Yet, within months, ITT's deputy security chief and its $200-a-day electronics consultant were dispatched to give "technical assistance" to the army, police and to at least one Chilean telephone company official.

Through a trusted intermediary, we have been given a summary of Ragan's notes on the visit. They do not shed much light on the subject, but simply tell of meetings with the Chilean police and army officials. Some of them appear to be in code.

After the Chilean excursion, Ragan continued to have high-paying dealings with ITT. His private logs show such curious listings as "6/2/71 — ITT test hi-power transmitter . . . 6/7/71 — ITT w/mtttr . . . 6/10/71 — Call Jack Caulfield . . . 'Tmitter,'" in this case, is a tiny bugging transmitter. And Caulfield was the White House dirty trickster of the Watergate era.

Ragan also ran an ITT de-bugging seminar and has done de-bugging work for Geneen and lesser ITT officials such as Dita Beard, John Ryan and William Marriam. He collected $175 to $200 a day for such duties.

Footnote: Ragan spoke with my associate Les Whitten at length. The "tmitter" was used only at the seminar, he said, not for bugging. The Chilean mission, he insisted, was "open and above board" and no bugs were planted while in Chile, nor were any found. The bugs he took with him, he said, were left in Chile only for training purposes, not for "offensive" bugging. ITT also denies any effort to bug Allende.

JAILS OF MONTEZUMA: In an earlier column we revealed that Army recruiters have signed up convicts on probation and men with police records — a practice which could result in a dangerously substandard Army.

Now we have discovered that the same recruitment abuses are widespread in the Marine Corps. Recruiters have gone to the crime rosters for their "few good men," and have arranged with district attorneys, defense attorneys and judges to drop or reduce criminal charges against those who enlist.

A California source, familiar with the practice, describes how prospective jailbirds are told "that unless they enlist for a term of two or three years, they will go to jail." Not surprisingly, most of them prefer a hitch in the marines to a stretch in the state pen.

My reporter, Randy Fitzgerald, made spot-checks around the country. Here are a few of his findings.

In Houston, a spokesman for the Harris County District Attorney's office admitted it is an "informal" practice to allow prison prospects to choose military service instead. Usually such prisoners would have gotten probation, he said.

Another Texas district attorney, who preferred not to be identified, acknowledged that the number of men entering the Marine Corps through coerced enlistment "has increased considerably in the last few years."

Los Angeles attorney Scott Tepper says he has clients "from all across the nation" who were coerced into the armed services. "Marine recruiters are now enrolling young recruits," he charged, by methods "reminiscent of the impressment techniques used in Draconian times."

The Marine Corps' acting commandant, Gen. E. E. Anderson, insisted all this is against policy. Yet in a letter to Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Tex., the general conceded that recruiting regulations have been "circumvented" in an unknown number of cases.

Inside Report

The Flanigan Blunder

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — That Republicans will have to undergo unnecessary, embarrassing and inescapably messy hearings on the nomination of Peter Flanigan as ambassador to Spain can be traced to two increasingly familiar shortcomings by President Ford: paying too much attention to continuity with the Nixon presidency and not enough attention to protection of his party's interests.

Flanigan, former New York financier and White House aide under President Nixon, will not enjoy the perfunctory confirmation hearings normally conducted by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri, leading the attack against his confirmation, wants Flanigan put under oath to answer a long list of accusations.

The most serious by far are sworn accusations by former Nixon attorney Herbert Kalmbach implicating Flanigan in exchanging ambassadorial nominations for political contributions. Though denied by Flanigan, Kalmbach's charges are strongly supported by Albert Jenner, who interrogated him as a counsel at the House impeachment proceedings.

Even if Flanigan is confirmed, it will revive poisonous memories of Watergate one month before the midterm election. Thus, Republican politicians are talking about Flanigan's nomination as the Nixon pardon in microcosm: A politically self-damaging act fulfilling no ostensible need.

Flanigan, a haughty lacerant Irish socialite who bruised feelings all over Washington as a Nixon White House troubleshooter, had no visible support for a diplomatic post. High State Department officials, Republican Senators and many party leaders agree that the nomination needlessly borrows trouble. There is no sign that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger pushed it, contrary to hints privately dropped by Flanigan.

The best explanation is that Mr. Ford signed an ambassadorial commission for Flanigan prepared during the Nixon administration as part of the new President's obsession with continuity during his first days in office. As with the Nixon pardon, there was little, if any, study of political consequences.

Some of the President's closest advisors were not even aware of last July's testimony by Kalmbach, Nixon's former attorney now serving a federal prison sentence. Kalmbach testified he had been told by Flanigan in 1971 to seek a $250,000 campaign contribution from Dr. Ruth Farkas (later named ambassador to Luxembourg) and that in turn she would be named ambassador to Costa Rica. Flanigan has denied this, contending Kalmbach misunderstood him.

"I would believe Kalmbach's testimony," Jenner told us. Jenner termed Kalmbach "a splendid witness, with a very good memory and excellent records." Flanigan, Jenner added, "played things close to his vest and was careful about what he told Kalmbach."

Although Eagleton today has few allies in the drive against Flanigan, prospects for confirmation are blighted by one ominous fact: Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia, assistant Democratic leader and perhaps the single most potent figure in today's Senate, has announced against him. Whether Flanigan survives or not, even White House aides concede the hearings can only embarrass the Republican party and the President at a time when his hands are full with more important matters.

Ford and Turkey

The overwhelming House vote to cut off foreign aid for Turkey takes on particular political significance because of energetic — and wholly unsuccessful — backstage efforts against it.

Mr. Ford placed a telephone call the morning of the vote to Republican Rep. Pierre du Pont of Delaware, a co-sponsor of the Turkish aid cutoff. Aguing against the amendment, the President obviously wanted du Pont to withdraw as a sponsor or at least tone down his amendment. DuPont did neither.

On the night before, Mr.

Ford made the same pitch at the White House to senior House Democrats. As a result, Speaker Carl Albert went into the well of the House the next day to support the President.

So did Rep. George Mahon of Texas, powerful chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

To no avail. The 307 to 90 vote against the President, stunning White House vote counters, was attributed by presidential aides to the fact that there are many more Greek-Americans than Turkish-Americans with election day nearing.

But Republican Congressmen on both sides of the issue think the debacle reflects Mr. Ford's grim decline following the Nixon pardon. Before Sept. 8, they believe, it would have been much closer.

Boosting Scoop

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, who wants to avoid becoming the "conservative" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, may soon get help from the left wing of the labor movement: a public endorsement by Machinists Union president Floyd (Red) Smith.

Smith has been a vigorous supporter of party reform and is allied politically with left-center unions against AFL-CIO president George Meany and his top political operative, Al Barkan. But Smith is as much a Jackson booster as Meany and Barkan and may soon publicly endorse him, significantly broadening Jackson's base of support.

Lichee Nut Larry's Last Case

Lt. Lawrence Sullivan had an even disposition — he was miserable. The 15 sergeants and patrolmen who worked the 8-to-4 trick with him referred to the policeman as Lichee Nut Larry, because of an addiction he had for visiting Chinese laundries and emerging with bulging pockets.

Sullivan was a policeman at a time when they wore fawn-colored helmets and patent leather belts, with nightsticks. Any man paid to dress in public like a Keystone Kop is entitled to be mad.

His job was to patrol Coney Island from the boardwalk to Surf Avenue, from Ocean Parkway to Norton Point. Unfortunately, the lieutenant lived in East Harlem. In fact, every time Lichee Nut Larry opened his mouth about the administration or chief inspectors and others, they all made sure he lived in East Harlem which, in 1908, was one hell of a trolley ride to work.

Sullivan took up the collection at 10 o'clock mass every Sunday and gave the priest a fair shake. He drew a failing mark, however, in the study of women. Or, put another way, Sullivan thought that women were mysterious creatures of God understood by no one.

When he married Tessie McGeehe, she was 108 pounds and timid as a burglar in police headquarters. Five daughters later, she was 183 and sounded like a church bell falling on concrete. In 10 years, Sully went from "I do" to "I won't."

By the time the youngest daughter reached 16, the Sullivan flat was crawling with what Sullivan referred to as "hoodlums." Lichee Nut thought he had five potential nuns whom he planned to offer to God. Any of the hoodlums could have straightened him out.

So he sulked at home. He sulked on the job. He demanded to know what the Department was going to do about the Five Points Gang. This would have entitled him to a beat in Tottenville, but the inspector in charge of Staten Island threatened to quit.

One of the top killers in the gang was Max Zwerbach, who was called Kid Twist. The Kid sent a dozen men to their eternal reward, including Richie Fitzpatrick, who was lured to a rendezvous with a promise that Kid Twist had a formula for ending all the killing.

The Kid's buddy was Vach Lewis, known to the law as Cyclone Louie. When they weren't busy reducing the population explosion, they lounged in an upstairs bar on Surf Avenue looking for an excuse to kill Louis Ploggi.

Ploggi had hair like a bag of charcoal and he was fat. Everybody called him Louie the Lump. Kid Twist and Cyclone Louie would stand at the upstairs bar drinking and needing Louie the Lump.

The problem — although the Kid could dispense with one if he wanted to kill anybody — was a girl. Her name was Carroll Terry. She had no nickname. Miss Terry had the morals of a nymphomaniac in solitary for 10 years.

She had been Louie the Lump's girl. Then she switched to Kid Twist. The Lump was in a fury because he had lost her. Kid Twist twice as mad because the Lump had her first.

May 14, 1908, was a chilly day, and the beach was empty. On the boardwalk, Nathan was counting frankfurters, mechanics were greasing the scenic railway and others polished the mirror maze and painted horses on the carousel. The lieutenant was standing below the bar, chewing his favorite fruit, when Louie the Lump came through a window, tore an awning, and landed at his feet.

He limped off. Sullivan said, "What the hell do you call that?" He ran upstairs. Kid Twist said he had been having good clean fun. "Miss Carroll Terry," he said, "my fiancée, says that the Lump was pretty lively with a girl, so I pointed a gun at him and said, 'Let's see how lively you are — jump through that window.' Honest to God, he did."

Kid Twist showed his license for the gun. "There's going to be trouble," Lichee Nut said, "and it isn't going to be in this precinct. I know Carroll Terry. You wait here."

He went for the girl. Kid Twist laughed and laughed. Louie the Lump rounded up 10 buddies who stormed the bar and nailed the Kid and Cyclone Louie to the floor with bullets.

The lieutenant returned with Miss Terry on his arm. He was horrified. "You scum," he said to the Lump, "we could have straightened this out if you waited." So the Lump hauled off and shot Miss Terry. Let the record show that the New York Police Department solved several problems in one day. Lichee Nut Larry retired at 5 p.m., May 14, 1908 . . .

Editor, The Freeman:
I am a Republican and I feel strongly that ex-President Nixon has abused the trust the American people gave him, as well as bungled the mandate he claims to have received from them.

However, it would be detrimental to the future stability of our form of Government if the backlash from Watergate ushered in a landslide of Democrats in Congress or in State or Local Government.

To elect a party rather than the best qualified person would be to compound our misery.

Mobile Homes

Editor, The Freeman:
The Hurley Citizens Environmental Protection Committee urges all concerned local residents to attend a special hearing before the Hurley Zoning Board of Appeals to be held on October 3rd, 1974 at 9 p.m. in the auditorium-cafeteria at the West Hurley Elementary School No. 2 in West Hurley.

The purpose of this hearing is to consider the issue of a Special Use Permit for the erection of a 50 unit mobile home park on Morgan Hill Road.

Our committee is very concerned about organizing and publicizing opposition to high concentrations of and additional forms of housing in areas too small and geographically unsuited for such usage. To quote John J. Fagan, Associate Professor of Geology at The City University of New York: "In practical terms, I would consider such a thin-soiled shale-underlain locality (such as that on Route 28A) to be one of the worst terrains on which to depend for elimination or cleansing of waste waters by filtration or leaching in underground sanitary disposal systems. If any kind of localized septic or cesspool system must be depended upon it would be unwise, perhaps dangerous to locate more than one dwelling on each one or two acres."

One need only consider the plight of the residents of Waltons Lane and other areas who are forced to carry water to their homes now that trailers have depleted the local supply and have moved on, to realize that the geographic conditions of any area are vital in considering the issuance of Special Use Permits. Consider, please; the next such Special Permit may pollute or deplete your well.

Spaying Program

Editor: The Freeman
In response to many inquiries recently received regarding the operation of the Ulster County SPCA's two spaying programs—and with the hope that many of your readers may be interested—I submit this letter. The programs are necessitated by the fact that no help is available at present from either our national or state government, to reduce the vast numbers of unwanted dogs and cats.

Shelter Spay Program
All female pets adopted from our Shelter (if not already spayed) must be spayed at the proper age. We are very grateful that eight veterinarians in Ulster County have agreed to spay these Shelter animals at a reduced fee, thus making it possible for more people to adopt the many lovely female pets constantly received at the Shelter, without adding to the number of unwanted animals roaming our streets. Here is how the program works.

When adopting a female pet, a person pays the reduced fee to the Shelter's Spay Fund, and is given a receipt. This receipt is held until the animal reaches the proper age for spaying. The pet's owner then makes an appointment with one of our cooperating veterinarians to have the animal spayed and presents the receipt for prepayment. The SPCA Spay Committee is then billed directly for the spaying.

If the payment of even the reduced fee presents a hardship, and the person qualifies as a responsible pet owner, part—and in some cases most—of the cost will be paid from our Spay Fund directly to the veterinarian.

Six hundred forty two dogs and cats have been adopted under this program, which has been in effect about 2½ years.

Subsidized Spay Program
Residents of Ulster County who own unspayed female dogs or cats (not adopted from our Shelter), and who cannot afford the regular spaying fee, may apply for assistance from our Subsidized Spay Fund. Those who qualify will be asked to pay into this Fund a certain amount toward the regular spaying fee, which is paid directly to the veterinarian. 23 pet owners have taken advantage of this program since its inception about four months ago.

The money used for these spaying programs does not come from our General Fund, but must be raised through contributions specifically designated for these funds, plus the sale of Place Mats, Current Cards, etc. and other fund-raising activities. We consider these programs very essential to the operation of our Shelter as they serve to reduce the number of animals brought to us, many of which must unfortunately be euthanized if not adopted. Contributions of any size will be gratefully received. Checks should be made payable to SPCA Spay Fund for the Shelter program, or to Subsidized Spay Fund, and sent to Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, treasurer of the Spay Committee, 73 Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y. 12401. For further information you may call Mrs. Wilson at 338-2240.

Sincerely,

Appointments At Bennett

MILLBROOK Executive Committee.

Three new administrative appointments have been announced by J. W. Nystrom, president of Bennett College.

Mrs. Robert H. Oines has been named treasurer. Mrs. Oines, formerly assistant treasurer, will continue to be responsible for the operating financial affairs of the college as well as sitting on the College Executive Committee.

Editor, The Freeman:

I would appreciate your printing this open-letter to Gov. Wilson and all of the misguided legislators who voted for the 11.8 per cent increase in welfare which became effective last April.

There is more than one category of welfare assistance in this State, and virtually all of the welfare abuse is connected with the welfare category known as Aid to Dependent Children (ADC). Any person with dependent children who is unemployed, or employed at a very low salary, is eligible for ADC.

I have never seen a schedule setting forth the total amount paid ADC recipients by the State and can only assume that our lawmakers are unaware as to the amount they receive. If they were aware of these amounts when they voted to increase them, they should be bounced out of office. It is one thing to rob the rich to help the poor, and another thing to rob the working man to help people who are better off financially than he.

A family of four eligible for ADC receives:
1. Basic stipend — $258.00 per month;
2. Rent — $190.00 statewide average per month;
3. Food stamps — $68.00 per month;
4. Utilities — 15.00 estimated per month;
5. Furniture — 20.00 per month.

Total— $551.00 per month. In addition, many other financial advantages are enjoyed by those receiving ADC. If they choose to change their residence, the movers are paid by ADC as well as all medical, dental and hospital expenses. They are reimbursed for capital losses realized as a result of things as fire, theft or loss. The benefits received are free from all State and Federal taxes. In order to take home $135.00 a week, a working man with three dependants would have to earn over $8,700.00 a year. The average factory worker in this State receives slightly over $6,000.00 a year, including overtime. I wish that I could send a copy of this letter to each of our State senators and legislators, but as I am a working man, not eligible for ADC, I lack the financial resources to mail a copy to each of them, so, I hope that your concerned readers will clip this article and send it to their legislators.

Marxist Guerrilla Band Terrorizing Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A Marxist guerrilla band carrying out a campaign of revenge against the Argentine army murdered an army captain with machine guns and shotguns today as he walked near his home in downtown Buenos Aires.

The death of Capt. Miguel Angel Paiva in the heart of the city brought to seven the number of army officers killed or wounded in the campaign started by army attacks on guerrillas.

Two army officers were killed in similar ambushes last Wednesday and four other soldiers were wounded in two separate incidents since then, police reported.

At least 125 persons died in politically inspired fighting between right-wing and leftist members of the Peronist movement this year. Since President Maria Estela (Isabel) Peron assumed power July 1 after the death of her husband, the bitter guerrilla fighting has almost quadrupled.

The attacks against then army leaders came after the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army vowed to kill 16 army officers in retaliation for the slaying of 16 guerrillas in northern Argentina last month.

The terrorists said their comrades were executed in cold blood after they surrendered to the army. The army has denied the charge.

Detectives in the industrial city of Cordoba, 440 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, are studying the possibility that a woman killed with two men in a shootout with police Tuesday was the Revolutionary Army contact in the area for major guerrilla operations.

ALBION, N.Y. (UPI) — The Lake Ontario shoreline in the regatta had been cancelled because of bad weather.

Authorities said the couple apparently tied themselves to the boat with nylon cord to keep from being washed overboard.

A county coroner said there was no indication of foul play, adding that the couple had Saturday after a Toronto possession.

Escapee Is Captured

COXSACKIE, N.Y. (UPI) — An 18-year-old escapee from the Cossack Correctional Facility in this Greene County community was nabbed by corrections officers Tuesday after he was spotted by a citizen a mile from the prison.

Robert B. Miles of Canandaigua, confined to the prison two months ago on a second degree arson charge, had escaped Monday.

A prison spokesman said Miles apparently hid in the laundry where he was working Monday and broke through a skylight to make his break.

Miles managed to elude a two-day search by local and state police and corrections officers and was captured only after a local resident reported the youth was hiding in a ditch a mile from the facility.

A prison spokesman said details of the escape would be presented to a Greene County Grand Jury.

Police Recover Stolen Car

KINGSTON — City police recovered a stolen car which had not yet been reported stolen and a set of stolen license plates early today following an auto accident at the intersection of Abel and Wurts Streets.

The driver of the stolen car fled on foot from the scene after striking the rear of a car stopped for a red light.

The stolen car, owned by Jerry Martin Pontiac of 708 Broadway, was apparently taken overnight, police said, and had not yet been discovered as missing.

It was involved in the collision at about 8:30 a.m. with a car driven by Wanda Louise Eck, 38, of North Muskegon, Mich. The driver of the stolen car was described as a young black male, who was gone from the scene when the police arrived.

The license plates on the auto had been reported stolen shortly before the mishap from Bernal American Inc. of 154 Clinton Avenue.

Investigation is continuing, police said. There were no injuries reported in the crash.

City Woman Robbed of $1

KINGSTON — An elderly Kingston woman was attacked and robbed of approximately $1 in change early today in an alley off St. James Street as she was walking to work, city detectives said.

Miss Louise Thiele, 67, of 52 Elmendorf Street was walking from her home to 3 Main Street at about 5:30 a.m. when the attack occurred.

Police said a tall, thin black man pushed Miss Thiele to the ground and grabbed a plastic bag she was carrying which contained about $1, Miss Thiele was not reported injured in the assault.

Detectives said the woman's assailant, described as being between 25 and 30 years old, with light skin, "bushy" hair and wearing dark clothing, ran off in the direction of Broadway following the attack.

The investigation is continuing, police said.

Two Youths Are Arrested

SAUGERTIES — Village Police charged two youths with burglary early today and recovered two lamps and a color television taken early Tuesday from the Saugerties Senior Citizens Building, authorities said.

Charged in connection with the alleged burglary were Wayne Pannetti, 20, who, police said, has no permanent address, and Alex Kaminski, 17, of Malden Avenue.

They were arrested at about 6 a.m. today.

SAUGERTIES — Village Police charged two youths with burglary early today and recovered two lamps and a color television taken early Tuesday from the Saugerties Senior Citizens Building, authorities said.

Charged in connection with the alleged burglary were Wayne Pannetti, 20, who, police said, has no permanent address, and Alex Kaminski, 17, of Malden Avenue.

They were arrested at about 6 a.m. today.

Following arraignment, both were confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each. Later reappearances in court are slated.

Deputy Sheriff Is Hospitalized

KINGSTON — Ulster County Deputy Sheriff David K. Hyatt, 35, of RD 4, Box 550A, Kingston, was hospitalized Tuesday afternoon following a collision at the intersection of Foxhall and Flatbush Avenues between a Sheriff's Department vehicle and another auto. City police investigated the mishap which occurred shortly after noon.

Hyatt was listed in fair condition today at the Benedictine Hospital.

Police said Hyatt was stopped for a traffic light when an auto driven by Frank J. Sabatini, 29, of Wittenberg-Glenford Road, Bearsville, was in collision with the rear of the Sheriff's Department car.

No summonses were issued, and only minor damage was reportedly sustained by the vehicles.

Dignity and thoughtfulness in a service that leaves nothing undone.

Stock Market Plunge Is Lowest Since 1962

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned upward today in what brokers described as a technical reaction to the market's latest severe sell-off.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers opened up a 2-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted no particular news to spur much buying. But they said some investors were evidently attracted by the sharply depressed prices of many stocks.

Today's prices included First National Boston, unchanged at 23 1/2; Federated Department Stores, down 1/4 at 21 1/4; Dresser Industries, unchanged at 33 1/2; and RCA, up 1/2 at 11.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average came back from several points below the 600 mark at one stage to finish down 3.05 at 604.82.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the Big Board as volume reached 16.89 million shares on the first day of a new operating schedule lengthening the market day by half an hour to 4 p.m. EDT.

The NYSE's composite index was off .05 to 33.40.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors, bruised by a sagging market, took another beating Tuesday as the New York Stock Exchange plunged to its lowest closing since the Cuban missile crisis. Brokers, however, recouped some of their earlier trading period by 30 minutes to number of brokerage houses have reported huge losses this trading and thus increase year because trading has fallen commission fees for brokers. A drastically.

On the first day of the government's extended trading hours, 16.8 million shares were traded, well above the 1974 average of 13.4 million shares daily. Nearly 1.2 million shares were traded in the extra half hour. The exchange estimates that 16 million shares must be bought and sold for brokers to break even.

The Dow Jones Industrial index, which started the year at more than 850, dipped below 600 at times Tuesday, but closed at 604.82, the lowest since Nov. 2, 1962, when it closed at 604.58 during the Cuban missile crisis. The Dow indicator has fallen steadily as confidence in the economy eroded and discourag-

British companies. In the last eight sessions, the widely watched average of stock prices has lost nearly 70 points. There is little optimism the slide is abating, and some analysts are saying the market could fall to around 540 in a short period.

Prices fell Tuesday because of increasing concern about world monetary problems and reports that some oil producing nations, including Kuwait, were raising royalty taxes on crude oil purchased by U.S. and

Holdout by Guerrillas Continues

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — The Dominican government has canceled a shipment of food to the Venezuelan Consulate in response to leftist guerrillas hardening demands for the release of seven hostages held in the building.

The guerrillas, who have leader and safe passage out of the country. Earlier, a top government source said the guerrilla band had reduced their demands to freedom for one jailed leftist.

The government responded by chocking off Tuesday's scheduled afternoon delivery of food and water to the hostages, and maintained its icy official silence on the situation.

Archbishop Hugo Eduardo Polanco Brito, serving as an intermediary, did not make his usual sundown appearance to carry food and water to the building, which is also without lights and water.

Police believe the building is being held by six guerrillas armed with submachine guns, pistols, grenades and possibly explosives.

The guerrillas, members of the pro-Castro Jan. 12 National Liberation Movement, abducted U.S. Embassy public affairs officer Barbara Hutchison Friday as she drove through Santo Domingo.

They forced her into another car, drove her to the consulate and took six other persons in the building hostage, including Venezuelan Consul Jesus Gregorio and Vice Consul Walde-mar Alvarado.

Venezuela Hits 'Profits'

By United Press International. Venezuela has taken a $440 million bite out of the "excess profits" of big international oil companies, imposing a retroactive tax to keep the firms from passing the levy on to consumers.

Hernandez told a news conference Venezuela decided to extend the 3.5 per cent hike retroactively to the first nine months of the year in a move to cut into oil company profits without increasing consumer prices.

The press reports said the first shipment would arrive this week. The newspapers said China would ship 250,000 tons of oil to the Philippines this year and 750,000 tons in 1975.

In Kuwait, oil sources said the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries would meet in the near future to discuss what it regards as American threats against Arab oil states.

The sources said the group was concerned about recent statements by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger accusing Arab oil producers of artificially rigging prices.

An oil company official said the firms undoubtedly would pass on the rise for the last three months of 1974, "but they can't pass along anything for the January-September period."

Hernandez brushed off questions about U.S. retaliation, predicting officials in Washington would take similar action against the international oil companies.

Algeria's minister of industry and energy, Baled Abdel Salam, said in Kuwait Tuesday night that "oil states should adopt a unified stand in the face of the intriguing campaigns by consuming countries."

"The oil prices are sound and reasonable. Petroleum is ours and we are free to dispose of it in the best manner serving the Arab national interests," Salam said upon arrival for a two-day official visit to promote Algerian-Kuwaiti oil cooperation.

He said oil-producing countries would not treat "with sympathy" the Western countries campaigning for lower petroleum prices.

In Manila, newspapers reported China joining the ranks of oil-exporting countries, agreeing to ship a million tons of petroleum to the Philippines by the end of next year.

The unilateral action by Venezuela, America's major foreign fuel supplier, came after the 12-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries ordered a 3.5 per cent oil tax increase for the last three months of 1974.

The Philippines First Lady Imelda R. Marcos arranged a million-ton shipment of Chinese petroleum during a 10-day visit to Peking last month.

The U.S. government is looking into the companies' excess profits itself and will probably take some kind of action, too," he said.

Resseguie Is Seeking Debates

BINGHAMTON American domestic economic policy is substantially interrelated with that of other countries and with foreign policy decisions," the Binghamton attorney said. "It is essential that a Congressman have a basic understanding of this interrelationship and the factors which effect it. The economic effect of the oil crises, the wheat deal, and of our undeclared wars over the past years all clearly point to the interdependency and interrelationship between foreign policy and domestic policy. The resulting effect upon bread-and-butter issues that concern every American today, including everything from bread on the table to gas in the family car and the cost of millions of other related food products and commercial products associated with both industries, is clearly apparent. The consequences are most serious and have a comprehensive effect not only on our economy, but upon our ability to withstand the influences of foreign states which could compromise our freedom and the freedom of other free nations in the world. The voters should require and attend debates on these issues. Resseguie faces Republican hopeful Alfred J. Libous and Democrat Matthew McHugh.

Courage Party Supports Professor

NAPANOCH Paul Henderson of Napanoch, chairman of the Courage Party of New York, has announced his party's candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and United States senator from New York.

They are Syracuse University professor Dr. Wayne Amato who seeks the office of governor and who will oppose incumbent GOP Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Democrat Hugh Carey. Also, Plattsburgh area businessman Charles Schonger, who will be Amato's running mate, opposing Republican Ralph Caso and Democrat Mary Ann Krupak. The Courage Party has also named Dr. William Dowling of Long Island to oppose U.S. Sen. Jacob Javits, a Republican and Ramsey Clark, Democrat.

Henderson said the Courage

Party candidates oppose big government; and in view of this, government and the taxing and spending policies which have or "detente" with Soviet and other communist nations.

Courage Party candidates oppose abortion and euthanasia; and support repeal of present liberalized abortion laws. Also, the Courage Party supports American labor's right to organize and bargain collectively.

"Indefense of labor and business we charge the cause of inflation to irresponsible government, where inflation originates," Henderson said.

Voting is a cherished American privilege and prospective voters should make sure they are registered to vote, and exercise their responsibility as if their freedom depended upon it," he concluded.

GOP Headquarters to Open

SAUGERTIES Republican headquarters in Saugerties will officially open at 7:30 p. m., Oct. 4, according to Republican Town Chairman Henry Breitenbach.

He reported that all Republican candidates, elected officials, and County Chairman Albert Spada will be on hand to meet with the public.

Chairman Breitenbach outlined the slate this year that includes Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., State Senator Edwyn E. Mason, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, Ulster County Sheriff candidate Thomas Mayone and Ulster County Coroner Richard Buono.

"In these troubled times," he said, "Ulster County has really been fortunate in having men with the qualifications, integrity and ability of our incumbents. As an average working man I feel very confident with men like Fish, Mason and Bell representing me in our state and federal government."

Several Credit-Free Courses Set by UCCC

STONE RIDGE
A course in labor union history and organization is among several credit-free offerings this term at Ulster County Community College.

This course will trace the history of the American labor movement and examine the structure of labor organizations in this country. Attention will be given to the history and impact of significant labor legislation, the structural differences between craft and industrial unions, and the relationship of the union and the community.

Other offerings include: a self-development workshop in "interpersonal skills"; a course in basic photography; intermediate furniture design and woodworking; the propagation of ornamental plants.

The interpersonal skills workshop, offered by the college's management institute, is designed to give participants an opportunity to develop skills in small groups, with such topics as perception, group roles, group exercises, process analysis and feedback.

The photography course will be held at Saugerties High School. Taught by James Richards, it will cover topics film development, darkroom procedure, enlarging, retouching, dry mounting, and lighting.

Furniture design is being offered at the Woodstock studio of Stephen Robin. It is designed for persons who have some woodworking experience and have acquired a degree of skill and proficiency in the use of hand and power tools.

Alten Keller, a consumer horticulturist with the Dutchess County Cooperative Extension Service, will give home gardeners an opportunity to learn and practice basic techniques of propagating ornamental plants. Registration for all courses is due by the end of this week at the Office for Continuing Education, located in the Clinton Administration Building on the Stone Ridge campus.

New Paltz Hearing Canceled

NEW PALTZ
The public hearing on revised subdivision regulations for the Town of New Paltz, scheduled for Oct. 9, has been cancelled. Town Supervisor Theodore Lasher said the planning board would hold an informational meeting on the revised regulations before the public hearing was rescheduled.

The planning board is to hold the informational session after its regular meeting Monday, Oct. 7, and Lasher said the town board would probably deal with setting another date for the public hearing at this month's town board meeting.

The planning board's meeting, in the Town Hall, will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Film Festival To Resume in High Falls

HIGH FALLS
The High Falls Film Festival begins its new season Saturday, Oct. 5 with the presentation of the 1939 musical Babes in Arms.

Show time will be 8 p. m. at the High Falls Firehall.

The feature film stars Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney with songs by Rodgers and Hart. Also to be shown is the award-winning Canadian featurette, Paddle to the Sea.

Arts, Crafts For Seniors In Woodstock

WOODSTOCK
The Woodstock Senior Citizens Club will hold its arts and crafts meeting 1 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 3 at the Reformed Church Hall.

Regular meeting will be held 1 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 17. A program is being planned.

At a recent meeting Arthur S. McCarthy was elected president to be assisted by Mary Busch, first vice president; Abram Chazan, second vice president; John Voigt, treasurer and Elizabeth Shultis, recording secretary.

Arrangements and reservations for a trip to Amish country was completed. Guest speaker was Chief William Waterous of the Woodstock Constabulary.

Open House On Sunday for Tillson Firemen

TILLSON
In observance of Fire Prevention Week, the Tillson Fire Company will hold an open house 1 to 4 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 6 at the firehouse.

There will be demonstrations of the use of fire fighting equipment. Refreshments will be served and there will be souvenirs for the children.

In conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, the fire company will sponsor a poster contest for each grade of Tillson and St. Peter's Schools. Awards will be given for the best poster in each class and each winner will be given a home fire extinguisher.

It is expected that the new fire truck will be delivered in time for the open house event.

Tot Finder stickers will be on display to show residents of the fire district what they are and to explain how they are used.

Highland Area Bicentennial Slate Named

HIGHLAND
Officers were elected at the organizational meeting of the Highland area Bicentennial Committee.

Mrs. Beatrice Wadlin will serve as chairman assisted by John Mathews, vice chairman; Mrs. Frances Kilpatrick, secretary and Mrs. Helen W. Cummings, treasurer.

Volunteer chairmen of various projects to be undertaken by the committee are William Wilklow, Thomas Shay, Joseph Indelicato, Aldo Chassan, Edwin Kilpatrick, Alan Johnson, Mrs. Frances Kilpatrick, Mrs. Cummings, Vincent Hopper, Mrs. Dorothy Gruner and Nicholas Marone.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, Nov. 17 starting 2 p. m. at the Highland town hall. All interested persons may attend.

Area Students Named Semifinalists

KINGSTON Two area students were among 1,400 semifinalists in the 11th annual National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students announced today by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation which administers the program.

Achievement Semifinalists from Ulster County are Sharon E. Phillips of Kingston High School and David B. Sanders of Rondout Valley Central High School.

Students named as Achievement Semifinalists are the highest scorers in the six geographic regions.

About 45% of the students announced today will be winners of Achievement Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1975. At least 260 of these awards will be National Achievement $1000 scholarships providing a single payment of $1,000 to the winner after he enrolls in a regionally accredited U.S. college. About 190 Achievement Scholarships in 1975 will be four-year renewable awards, worth up to $1,500 per year (or $6,000 for the four college years). In the ten annual Achievement Scholarship competitions completed more than 3,300 black students have won awards valued at more than $9.5 million. To continue in the competition, Achievement semifinalists must qualify as credible academic record, and to advance to Finalist standing by meeting additional requirements that include submitting their academic and extracurricular attainments. Over 1,000 Semifinalists are expected to advance to Finalist standing in the competition for Achievement Scholarships to be offered next spring.

ASC Election Boundaries Set

KINGSTON Community boundaries have been set for the upcoming Ulster County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation service committee elections.

David M. Squires, county executive director in announcing the designations, said that the review of community boundaries is one of the first steps in administering the annual ASC farm committee elections. ASC communities are local administrative areas which help provide farmers with effective farm program administration. According to Squires, these areas are reviewed yearly to determine boundary changes that benefit farmers.

Ulster County has three ASC communities as follows:
A — Hardenburgh, Shandaken, Woodstock and Saugerties.
B — Denning, Wawarsing,

Rochester, Olive and Marbletown.
C — Kingston, Ulster, Hurley, Rosendale, Estop, New Paltz, Lloyd, Marlboro, Shawangunk, Gardiner and Plattekill.

A list of ASC communities and the number of farms within each community is available to the public at the Ulster County Office, 54 John Street, Kingston. Election will be held Dec. 2. Other actions concerning the origin.

To Hear Speaker

KINGSTON Hyatt was coordinator of special education in the Kingston Ulster County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. He will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the school, Merilina Avenue.

Guest speaker will be Kenneth Hyatt Jr., administrative assistant for pupil personnel services in the Kingston City Schools. He will discuss Special Education Programs in Our Schools with emphasis on special education needs of the handicapped child.

The regular meeting of the Hurley Senior Citizens Club will be held 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 3 with Bernhardt S. Kramer of the Ulster County Social Services Department as guest speaker.

WOODSTOCK 'RECOGNIZES' ARTS—An historic milestone for the Town of Woodstock in recognizing the importance of the arts to the community took place at a recent board hearing when Vern May, town supervisor, presented a check for $3,000 to the Building Expansion Fund of the Woodstock Artists Association. Accepting are Carolyn Wilson, chairman of the WAA board of trustees, and Aileen Cramer, (R) chairman of the WAA Building Expansion Fund Committee. (Photo by Howie Greenberg)

British Exchange Teacher at Saugerties

SAUGERTIES

Michael D. Preston, a general studies teacher from Cubbington, England, has joined the teaching staff at Saugerties High School for the 1974-75 school year.

Preston is one of 100 British teachers participating in a teacher-exchange program with the United States.

Taking Preston's place at King Henry VIII School in Coventry, England, is Jack Pakanen, a member of the social studies department at Saugerties High School.

Preston received his university degree from Exeter

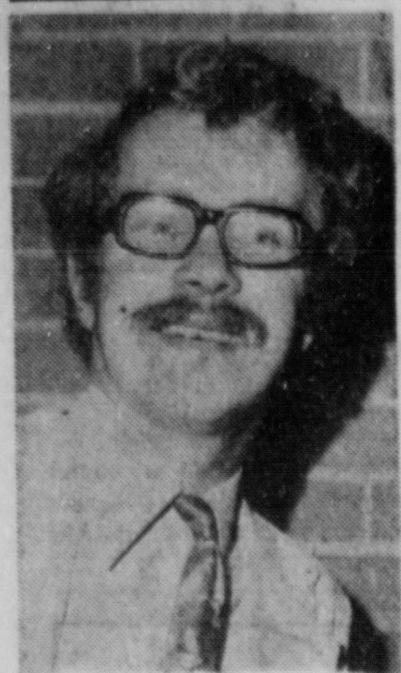

University in 1969 with a teaching certificate from Coventry College. Preston, working with a team of teachers at King Henry VIII School (founded in 1545), specializes in "general studies" and supervises school and community services.

At Saugerties he is teaching European Culture Studies and general social studies to 10th graders. Preston also plans to present a series of seminars on British life and to become involved with the School and Community Service Program at SHS.

Preston, his wife, Monica, an elementary school teacher, and their two children Alfred, 3, and William 1, were given a week's orientation in Washington by the Department of State and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare after their arrival in this country last month.

They are now living at 3 Esopus Drive in Saugerties, having exchanged homes with the Pakanen family which is living at the Preston home at 28 Price Road, Cubbington, England.

Speaker Slated Oct. 7

NEW PALTZ
Mrs. Adelaide Williams of the New York City Diabetic Association will be the main speaker when Ulster County Chapter 975, American Association of Retired Persons, meets at 1 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 7 at the VFW building in New Paltz.

Mrs. Williams will be introduced by Ms. Florence Ellison, RN, and will be assisted in presenting the program by two County Nurses.

Joseph Lorenzo, former AARP chapter president, is recuperating at home and is reported well on the road to recovery from an automobile accident that hospitalized him recently. Lorenzo missed several trips by chapter members, including the Green Mountain Raceway at Pownal, Vt., the Bavarian Festival at Purling, the historic seaport of Mystic, Conn., and the performance of "Lorelei" in New York City. Mrs. Elsie Lorenzo, Chapter 975 president, was one of those singled out by Carol Channing at the "Lorelei" performance to receive a "Carol Channing Diamond Ring."

Len Cane, executive director of the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker at the third anniversary dinner of Chapter 975, which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 4.

Dorothy Galani, accordionist, will furnish music for singing and dancing. Reservations must be made no later than Oct. 15 with Mrs. Helen Gill of Hurley or Mrs. Marian Turck of Kingston.

Recreation Meeting Set

HURLEY
The annual membership meeting of the Hurley Recreation Association will be held 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 4 at St. Joseph's Hurley Mission Chapel.

Election of six new board members and approval of the 1975 operating budget are on the agenda.

The six board members retiring this year are Michael J. Oliver Jr., Bruce Fiore, James Craven, John Stedner, Burton Markle and Paul Giannuzzi.

Planning for the 1975 season is underway. Preliminary work began on the tennis courts this past week and it is anticipated that the courts will be completed for the coming summer season.

Oliver, president of the association for the past year, reported a successful summer season at the recreation facilities on DeWitt Mills Road. More than 100 children learned how to swim and swimming lessons were given eight children from the Children's Rehabilitation Center of Ulster and Greene Counties.

A full arts and crafts program was offered with more than 100 children participating. There were events for senior citizens and families as well.

TOWN OF OLIVE
A photo exhibit as part of the Town of Olive Bicentennial celebration will be held Oct. 4 and 5 at the Olive Free Library, West Shokan, Route 28A.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 4 and 12 noon to 8 p.m. Oct. 5. At the close of the exhibit in the assembly room of the library Frank Becker will speak on his work with the Navajo Indians and James Burgraf of his archeological research with the Esopus Indians. Both men are residents of the Town of Olive.

Persons exhibiting pictures will be Mrs. Charles Sickler, Mrs. Genevieve McLean, Mrs. Esther Kelsey, Harry Siemsen and Robert R. Haines. On Oct. 5 Miss Marie Siemsen will exhibit her primitive paintings.

Anyone having pictures they would like to exhibit may contact Mrs. Sickler. Subject matter includes: Town of Olive and vicinity, Ashokan Reservoir, railroads, Woodstock and the Town of Kingston.

FLO-FILL POURS THROUGH HOSE AS LIQUID

Area Company ...Floor Pioneer

It's almost like magic. A colorless liquid is poured from a hose nozzle directly onto a prepared floor surface. Within 15 minutes, it begins to "set." In little more than an hour, the "liquid" has become transformed into a smooth, level floor surface, resembling concrete and ready for traffic.

This is U.S. Gypsum Flo-Fill, a new concept in self-leveling underlayment, now available in this area, with a local company, Gypsum Floors of New York, Inc. of Kingston and Albany appointed authorized contractors throughout the Northeastern part of New York State and areas in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

Co-presidents of the firm, John Stote of Kingston and Richard Phillips of Albany, along with Mrs. Christine Gallop of Kingston, secretary-treasurer, believe the new Flo-Fill flooring will effect major changes in the building industry because of the many unique advantages it offers over other competitive flooring.

During a recent "pour" at Cedars-At-The-Commons Apartments in Poughkeepsie, the Flo-Fill process was dramatically demonstrated. As one group of workers poured the gypsum powder from huge bags onto a truck-top mixing bin, another truck alongside immediately converted the powder by hose and pump machinery into liquid form, which was then pumped directly onto the prepared surface. The floor was ready for use within an hour. The converter truck is especially designed for U.S. Gypsum Flo-Fill.

"The time-saving feature of Flo-Fill cannot be matched," said Stote. "It greatly shortens construction schedules, saving the builder a great deal of money. Within hours, Flo-Fill is ready for any floor finish, such as pad and carpet, planking, ceramic tile, plywood or wood parquet. We can easily pour floors for 25 apartments in one day."

An additional advantage of Flo-Fill is its lightweight quality combined with strength. Flo-Fill hardens to a thickness of three quarters of an inch. As a comparison, Flo-Fill can carry a 500 pound static load on a 1-inch diameter disc. Due to its rapid strength development, thinner slabs can be installed than with concrete, reducing dead weight of floors. For example, 3/4 inch Flo-Fill weighs only 12.5 square foot compared with 12.5 psf for lightweight concrete at its minimum allowable thickness of 1-1/2 inches.

Soundproofing is another feature. Since the Flo-Fill compound sets uniformly without shrinkage, it is free from cracks that produce sound "leaks" and thus, reduces noise transmission. It is also non-combustible.

Expressing their pleasure at being appointed exclusive installers for the Flo-Fill method, the owners added that installation is available only by approved contractors, using approved mixing and pumping equipment.

Besides Cedars-At-The-Commons Apartments in Poughkeepsie (Builder: Gerald Goldie, Albany) other Flo-Fill floors are already installed at Lake Placid Junior-Senior High School (Architects: Sargent, Webster, Crenshaw and Foley, Syracuse); Adirondack Trust Company, Saratoga (General Contractors: Sano Rubin, Albany); and the Cannon Office Building, Troy (Northwood Projects, Inc.).

SVBA Notes Mum Day

SAUGERTIES The Saugerties Village Business Association, Inc., has proclaimed Saturday, Oct. 5, as "Mum Day."

October in Saugerties is the month of the Mum Festival, sponsored by the Little Sawyer Association. Therefore, the Saugerties businessmen will be taking part by greeting the Saugerties shoppers Saturday, Oct. 5, with teen-age girls carrying mums, pinning them on the shoppers and thanking them for shopping Saugerties. This will be done throughout the morning and afternoon.

The Association encourages everyone to visit beautiful Seamon Park in its glory of mums during the Mum Festival Days and asks they allow the friendly Saugerties merchants to show them what they have to offer.

Yule Catalog Mailed

Holiday Ideas From Wards

CHICAGO, ILL. Believe it or not? A see-through telephone.

Live Sea Monkeys that do back flips.

A scale model of Sam Houston's cannon.

A King Henry VIII chess set.

Items in a museum of the unusual? Not at all. Just a sampling of holiday gift ideas from the Montgomery Ward Christmas catalog now being mailed to more than six million families around the nation.

See-through telephones, exposing the spaghetti-like maze of colorful wires, will be the talk of the neighborhood.

Sea Monkeys, a tiny variety of shrimp, flip and dart in an aquarium with magnifying viewing ports.

The cannon is a faithful reproduction of the one Sam Houston used in the Mexican war of 1836; it comes with its history printed on parchment.

The King Henry VIII set is one of several thematic chess sets, authentic in every detail from plumes and jewels to Henry's owly scowl.

The sharp shopper (and who isn't one these days) will find bonus coupons offering price reductions up to 40 per cent good until Oct. 31. There are substantial price cuts on many special items, appearing under eye-catching designations such as "Christmas Bell Ringer" and "Fabulous Value."

"Among the 420 pages of this book can be found a wide assortment of items to inspire truly thoughtful gift-giving, at real value-hunting prices," said S.W. Allred, vice-president and catalog merchandise manager of the national mass retailer, a subsidiary of Marcor Inc.

"More than half the book is devoted to toys and gifts to please all ages and pocketbooks."

"Our buyers did an outstanding job of combing the market for the beautiful, the unusual, the appealing merchandise items to brighten Christmas for everyone. And even Scrooge would delight in the more than 460 price cuts and special values. In a time when budgets and inflation are on everyone's minds, we are especially pleased to be able to offer our customers such values. We believe this is one of the most exciting Christmas catalogs we've ever published."

The catalog combines a vast selection of high-fashion apparel with hundreds of unusual and traditional gift items and 112 pages of toys.

It includes gifts for the home that the entire family can enjoy, and special sections for special interests such as sports, games, do-it-yourself items, and more.

In addition, the catalog offers a free $5 gift certificate to customers ordering $50 or more by Oct. 31.

Metro Insurance Payments

KINGSTON

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in the state of New York amounted to $615,458,267 in 1973. It was announced by Salvatore L. Sgroi, C.I.U., district sales manager of the company's Kingston office at 280 Wall Street.

More than $439,205,660 went to living policyholders in the form of health insurance payments, cash values, pensions, endowments and dividends. A total of $176,252,607 went to beneficiaries in death claims.

Sgroi also said that new life insurance in the state reached $1,785,883,000 in 1973, bringing Metropolitan Life's total life insurance in-force in New York to $29,848,023,832 by year's end.

As of December, 1973, Metropolitan's investments in the state of New York reached a total of $1,034,420,000 in securities; $674,740,000 in residential, commercial and industrial mortgages.

Oystermen's Bank and Trust Company, Sayville, L.I., officially has become an affiliate of First Commercial Banks Inc., a $1.6 billion registered bank holding company headquartered in Albany.

"We are pleased to join forces with First Commercial, a young, aggressive, forward-thinking and solidly growing holding company," Geoffrey D. Tauge, president of Oystermen's, commented. "This new affiliation will allow us to provide new and expanded customer services while Victor J. Riley Jr., First Commercial president and chief executive officer, called the acquisition a significant step for the holding company. "Oystermen's enjoys a fine reputation in the area and provides a strong base from which First Commercial and its new affiliate can further expand an ongoing program to serve this growing area of Long Island. Oystermen's," said Riley, "will continue to be guided by its own Board of Directors, officers and staff and will retain its name which is so well known to their many customers and friends."

First Commercial is the first holding company headquartered outside of New York City to enter the Long Island market.

First Commercial paid $45.36 per share for Oystermen's 198,376 shares of common stock with Oystermen's shareholders being offered the option of cash or a unique cash-and-note option under which shareholders receive $12.70 in cash and $32.66 in 7-1/4 per cent six-year promissory note, for each share.

Oystermen's, with total assets of more than $50 million, was founded in 1899 and has offices in Sayville, Ogdade, Bayport, Bohemia and North Sayville.

First Commercial now has more than 100 banking offices and is listed on National Bank from Long Island to Central New York. Its other affiliates in Dealers Automated Quotations (NASDAQ) under the symbol Bank and Trust Company, FCMB.

Election '74 . . . A Variety of Propositions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Americans will vote in November for candidates for governor, Congress and dozens of lower offices. And, depending on where they live, they will also vote on:
—Whether they want to create a "Las Vegas of the East."

—Whether they want the electorate to have the final say on detonating nuclear devices and placing them in the ground.
—Whether they want politicians to disclose sources of income.

—Whether they want their legislature to set interest rates.
Those measures are among the proliferation of referenda, propositions and state constitutional amendments on ballots in 50 states.

They include fixtures like technical changes in legislative and constitutional procedures; semifixtures like proposals to legalize lotteries and bingo and outlaw busing; a half-dozen election reform and ethics proposals, some inspired by Watergate; and oddities like the proposal on nuclear devices, which is on the ballot in Colorado.

The "Las Vegas of the East" would be Atlantic City, N.J., the once-glittering resort now a victim of urban decay.
Voters in New Jersey, who overwhelmingly approved in 1969 a lottery that has become one of the nation's most successful, will vote this year on whether to legalize casino gambling.

Colorado's nuclear device referendum is a successor to the successful campaign among environmentalists two years ago which barred the spending of state money on the 1976 Winter Olympics and led to their relocation.
The proposal would prohibit the placement in the ground of any nuclear device except when approved by the voters at a general election.

Proponents say a yes vote would show Colorado residents are serious about preserving the environment and keeping the state from becoming "the playground" of the Atomic Energy Commission. There have been two nuclear experiments in Colorado, both aimed at fracturing gas-bearing sandstone formations to promote easier production of natural gas.
Among other environmental measures on the ballot is one in Nevada which would tax persons who try to develop agricultural land or land designated for open space. And a controversial proposal in Utah would create a state land-use planning commission.

Among the political reform items is one in Oregon, which would require elected officials, candidates for office and high-level appointees to list employment that provides more than 10 per cent of their income and list their property holdings, business affiliations and the names of lobbyists with whom they are affiliated.
In Maryland, where the scandal that led to former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's no-contest plea to income tax evasion is still fresh, there is a proposal that would require the suspension of public officials who are convicted of a felony or misdemeanor related to their duties. They would automatically be removed from office when appeals are exhausted.
Idaho's election reform proposal was placed on the ballot after the state legislature rejected attempts to enact a code of ethics for legislators and

Uphill Battle for Dole

TOPEKA Kan. (UPI) — On a windswept hill overlooking a prairie highway sits a blank, whitewashed billboard — an omen, perhaps, of the collapse of Sen. Robert Dole's re-election bid in Kansas.
A few miles down the road, on a similar hill, stands another billboard. This one is orange, black and white and bears the picture of the man most likely to succeed the Republican incumbent.

"Dr. Bill Roy, U.S. Senator," says the sign. "A respected voice for Kansas."
Dole's bid for re-election never was expected to be easy and indecision on campaign advertising has not helped.
Several hundred billboards rented by Dole have been paid for since Sept. 1, but campaign officials now say it will be the middle of October before the red and blue lettering goes up.
And as every week passes, as every new poll is released, Dole slips farther and farther behind, a potential peripheral casualty of Watergate.

Dole has not written off the election, but his opponent has. Roy began campaigning several months ago and has been on television at least once or twice a week since with spot advertisements or 30-minute specials.
One of the more surprising turns came at a recent agriculture debate. Farming is Dole's forte, but Roy managed to keep him on the defensive. And Roy was not forced to any great extent to justify his own positions.
No new issues came from the debate but few who were there thought Dole came off well. Even so, political observers believe Dole still has time to turn the election around.

Since Dole first was elected in 1968, he has been building a campaign chest for his re-election and is outspending Roy by about two-to-one. Republicans say their hopes rest on a media blitz in the last weeks before Nov. 5. That blitz, they say, will be the only thing that could make it close.
Should Dole fail, it probably will have little impact on four of the five other congressional elections where Republican incumbents are considered safe.
Only the race to replace Roy in the second district is seen as close, and there Republican John Peterson, 26, a state legislator is trailing the state's only woman congressional candidate by a thin margin.

Martha Keys, a 44-year-old mother of four, surprised most political prophets by trouncing four male Democrats in her primary.
She is no newcomer to politics. Two years ago she headed Sen. George McGovern's Kansas organization. He lost the state but she came up with strong party backing.
The second district, unlike the others, is no stranger to change. Electing Democrats, having twice sent Roy to Congress. The only debit for Mrs. Keys' money. She has few resources.

When Nixon resigned it should have given us a hell of a boost," said Dole's campaign director, Herb Williams. "And there can't be any question left that we were not involved."
"But we haven't come up materials. Proponents expect to get votes as a result of federally ordered desegregation plans in Baltimore and its suburbs, which are expected to increase private school enrollment.

Oregon voters are among the first being asked to decide whether to make it a crime to distribute obscene material and run massage parlors. The proposal defines as obscene any material appealing to the prurient interest and without literary, scientific or artistic value.
California's ballot, usually heavy with controversial proposals, is relatively sedate this year. The proposal generating the most interest is one that would declare a stretch of the Stanislaus River a scenic area in an effort to stop the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from building a dam there.
In addition to the New Jersey casino gambling referendum, the gambling proposals include one in Kansas to legalize bingo and another to add Washington to the list of states with lottery.

Dole's problems started in 1972 when Richard Nixon selected him to chair the Republican National Committee.
His acceptance did not sit well with many Kansans loathe to see a homestate boy get involved in big-time politics. The subsequent Watergate scandal served as proof to many more that he had forsaken his homepun upbringing for the bright city lights.
But with Nixon's resignation things were expected to change. The Senate Watergate Committee cleared the Republican National Committee in general, and Dole specifically, of any wrongdoing.
Since then ranking Republican investigators of Watergate, including Sens. Howard Baker of Tennessee and Lowell Weicker of Connecticut, have come to Kansas to remind folks that Dole was not involved.
But nothing has seemed to help.

When Nixon resigned it should have given us a hell of a boost," said Dole's campaign director, Herb Williams. "And there can't be any question left that we were not involved."
"But we haven't come up

Troop F Firing Range... Caution, Knowledge, Accuracy

By MATT SPIRENG

NAPANOCH
"If you have to shoot — which is a horrible thing in the first place — you'd better be able to hit what you're shooting at without extra rounds flying around," said Trooper Robert C. Schanck as the sound of gunfire abruptly halted at the State Police Troop F firing range in Napanoch.

Trooper Schanck, whose duties include those of a firearms instructor, was specifically commenting on why the use of the relatively inaccurate submachine gun was discontinued many years ago by state police. But his statement seemed to embrace the general attitude of the New York State Police toward the handling and use of firearms as evidenced by action at the firing range — respect and caution, knowledge of the weapon, and accuracy in using it.

And, in part, these are apparently the reasons why the Troop F firing range exists, and why every member of Troop F, encompassing Rockland, Orange, Sullivan, Ulster and Greene Counties, from the highest officer to the rookie trooper must qualify at least once a year on the "PPC" (police pistol course).

"The object is not to teach them to shoot," said Trooper Schanck, "but to refresh their knowledge and increase proficiency."

Eleven members of Troop F, including a senior BCI investigator, a zone sergeant and a rookie trooper, were put through the course when the Freeman recently visited the firing range.

Prior to taking the men onto the range itself, a firearms instructor (at least three are in attendance) read a long list of rules and regulations undisturbedly heard many times over by most of the men. And yet a mood of intense seriousness seemed to pervade the room as the rules were read.

"Treat every weapon as if it is loaded," said the instructor. "The word out here is safety. Over and over again, safety. Make sure what you are going to do is safe before you do it," he warned.

"Never point a firearm at a person unless you are prepared to shoot and kill as permitted by law," he advised, which perhaps goes far to explain why shootings by state police are rare events. The act of pointing the gun is a prelude to the awesome responsibility of a possible killing. And should a killing occur, the police officer is accountable to the law. The case goes before a grand jury for consideration whether an indictment should be issued or a "no bill" handed up.

"You have to answer to the law first. But you also have to answer to yourself," said

Trooper Schanck, indicating the seriousness with which the carrying of a weapon is taken.

The reading of the rules completed, the 11 men — their unloaded weapons perhaps feeling heavier — were led to the range to be issued 60 rounds of ammunition, a silhouette target of a man, and ear protectors to guard against possible damage from the sound of 11 weapons being rapidly fired almost simultaneously.

Then, with senior firearms instructor Albert Davis giving amplified instructions from a tower overlooking the outdoor range, the men fired 60 rounds in a practice run through the

PPC. Then came the qualifying round. With new targets up, the men lined up seven yards away and were required first to draw and fire 12 shots in 25 seconds, meaning they had to reload once in that short time. Standing in a crouch for the "instinctive shooting" needed, each man got off the 12 shots in the required time.

Gradually the line moved back, with the men shooting from various required positions, until the distance finally reached 50 yards from the target where, Davis reminded them, "If you jerk your weapon a quarter of an inch here, you'll be four feet off at the target." The men fired the final 24 rounds from 50 yards. Although some had had low scores during the practice round, each of the 11 men qualified on the round that counted, with scores indicating that a majority of the shots struck what is known as the "kill zone" of the silhouette targets.

Of course, the service revolver — usually a .357 magnum — is not the only weapon used by the state police. Following the PPC, the 11 men qualified with a shotgun, firing buckshot and slugs which at the end of a day of shooting leave the pole holding the target shattered.

Only certain specified trained men are qualified to use a rifle on duty, and then the rifle can only be used under the direct orders of a commissioned officer.

Kingston Hospital Recognizes Volunteers for Service

Twenty-three men and women were recognized for their hours of volunteer service to the Kingston Hospital at the September 24 meeting of the Auxiliary. In honoring these volunteers for their efforts, Mrs. Karl Pitcock, Director of Volunteers at Kingston Hospital, praised the group for wishing to reach out and help the patients and the Hospital.

Those receiving pins and awards were: Manuel Dourado, Allred Quinn, Mrs. Charlotte Adams, Mrs. Harry Fertel, Mrs. Edward Garzarelli, Mrs. John Stote, Mrs. Edward Widerspiel, Mrs. Alan Weitzner, Mrs. Lewis Kirschner, and Miss Elizabeth Dierks, all of whom have completed at least 100 hours of in-hospital volunteer work; Mrs. Thomas Buckley, Mrs.

Ted Corea, Mrs. Charles Fous, Mrs. Gerald Kurtz, Mrs. Cora North, Mrs. Francis Osterhoudt, Mrs. Norman Rafalowsky, Mrs. Norman Schwakopf, and Mrs. Alden Robinson, more than 500 hours of volunteer service. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Arthur Kurtz and Mrs. Beth Olson who have completed at least 1,000 volunteer hours in the hospital. Two outstanding volunteers, Mrs. John Salapatis who has given over 2,000 hours of volunteer service, and Mrs. Richard Kalish who has completed over 2,500 hours, were lauded by Mrs. Pitchcock for their unselfish efforts. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. John McCullough president of the Auxiliary of Kingston Hospital. Mrs.

McCullough introduced the chairman of the various Auxiliary services and thanked them for their efforts. She also announced that the annual card party sponsored by the Auxiliary will take place on Thursday evening, Nov. 7 at the Ramada Inn. Mrs. Henry Jacobs or Mrs. Clare McGrath, co-chairmen of the event, may be contacted for table reservations.

The event is open to the public. Mrs. Louis Salzman, program chairman for the evening, introduced Jodi and Howie Soltanoff of the Casa Verde Plant Shop, who gave an interesting presentation on the selection and care of house plants. Many varieties of plants were displayed and two terrarium and a cactus dish garden were planted.

Mrs. Wilbur Peters was hospitality chairman for the evening. Those wishing to join the Auxiliary of the Kingston Hospital, either as active volunteers or as associate members, are asked to contact Mrs. Richard Winter or Mrs. Jack Gill, membership co-chairmen, or Mrs. Karl Pitcock, Director of Volunteers.

Fall Festival to Feature Flower Show

Friends of Historic Kingston, in cooperation with the Fall Festival Steering Committee, will present its second annual flower show Saturday, Oct. 12.

The show was developed to commemorate the transition from Colonial to Revolutionary Period, 1773 to 1777. The theme will feature the observance in Kingston in 1774 of the birthday of King George III as it would have been celebrated at the Inn that became the DeWall Tavern, at the Bogardus Tavern, and at the Elmdorf Tavern which is still standing and occupied by Dr. John Roberts.

Commemorating the 1774 observance is unique in that it was the last time Kingstonians celebrated the birthday of the Monarch, and drank the Kings toast as subjects of the crown. The decisive in the separation of following year became decisive in the separation of the Colonies from the Crown.

Co-chairpersons are Mrs. E. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Henry Parker with program assistance from Mrs. Glenn Stampfle. All garden clubs, Girl Scout Neighborhoods, interested gardeners and arrangers are urged to participate. There will be five divisions which will include artistic design and arrangement.

Categories are: Ballroom at the Inn; Entry hall, tavern room or guest room arrangement for the night of the Ball; Youth Unit age six to 10; Childrens birthday Tea Party for King George; Youth Unit age 11 to 16; arrangement for candle stand and tap room table for the night of the party; and Horticultural specimens.

Winners will be judged by popular vote, and one may register from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Statewide Savings Bank October 12. The show will be open from 10 to 4. All interested individuals may contact Mrs. Johnson or Mrs. Parker of Kingston.

The Fall Festival is co-sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association, the Friends of Historic Kingston, and the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County.

AFS Open House This Saturday

There will be a joint Open House hosted by Ontario and Kingston Chapters of the American Field Service on Saturday at 8 p.m. at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church on Route 212, Woodstock. This meeting was originally scheduled for October 4. Hilde Bastian from Belgium, Klaus Eisterer from Austria and Karen Baldus from West Hurley, who spent last year in France, will give slide presentations. Public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Local CDA Hold 62nd Annual Banquet

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria No. 164, held its 62nd annual banquet on Thursday, Sept. 26, at the Capri 400, Port Ewen, with 98 members and guests present.

Regent Catherine Haines presented Helen Van Steenberg with a 50 year pin and commended her for her outstanding work for the Court and wished her many more years of association with the Court.

Martha O'Leary was chairman of the dinner and thanked her committee: Alice Krom, Jane Madden, Antoinette Brocco, Ida Hoehing, Emma Sangaline and Catherine Haines, for their assistance.

The Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Mullins, chaplain, wished the Court continued success in the future and was presented with a gift on the eve of his departure for a vacation in Central America.

Retiring District Deputy Pauline Losso of Newburgh, also received a gift and the incoming District Deputy, Mary Gaffney of Highland, was presented with a corsage by the Regent.

A program was given by John Porsh and Gene Merigliano of the Kingston Toastmaster's Club. John Nettle of London, England rendered piano selections during the dinner. Guests were present from the surrounding Courts of Cornwall, Highland, Poughkeepsie and Marlboro. Congratulatory letters were read by the Regent from those unable to attend.

Emily Spada, vice regent, introduced the officers of Court Santa Maria to the gathering.

Garden Society Hears Historian

"You need not go very far from home to see important historical points of interest," said Donald Martin of New Paltz, guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens, held at the United Methodist Church.

Board member and Educational chairman of the D & H Canal Historical Society, Martin traced the canal's history from 1828 to 1898, showing slides throughout.

Stressing the engineering feats accomplished, at a time when primitive tools and methods were used, Martin noted that the first suspension bridge built in America was a D & H Canal aqueduct, built by John Roebling, who also built the Brooklyn Bridge.

This aqueduct, built at Lackawaxen in 1848, is now a national historic landmark.

The discovery of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania led to the building of the Canal system, starting at Honesdale, Pa., following the various waterways to Port Jervis and on into the Rondout Valley to Kingston.

Club President Mrs. Gordon Keeley noted that members have been busy planting chrysanthemums around the Senior Citizens' Building on Main Street and Washington Avenue.

Announcement was also made that the mum arrangements to be placed in the local banks during the Mum Festival weeks are being made by the Garden Society members.

In addition, the Society is sponsoring the Mum Festival Flower Show to be held at Seamon Park on Sunday, Oct. 6, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the Hostess Committee Mrs. George Jorgensen, Mrs. James Babb and Mrs. Gordon Keeley.

The next meeting will be the annual business meeting and election of officers to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 1:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Francis Lawless.

Special Courses Scheduled At Dutchess County YWCA

Mrs. Linda Philbrick, Whitehouse Avenue, Poughkeepsie, will teach a four session course at the YWCA of Dutchess County to enable parents to know themselves, and their children better.

The sessions will begin on Thursday, October 3. The time has been changed to 9:30-11:30 a.m. The Child Development Course is under the combined auspices of the YWCA of Dutchess County and the Nursery Education Program of Dutchess Community College and will take place at the YWCA, 18 Bancroft Road.

The first session will be called "Parenthood as a Developmental Period." At this time Mrs. Philbrick will discuss general issues including the creative use of materials and children and the media.

"Temperamental Differences" will be dealt with at the next session on October 10. The topics for the following two weeks are "He Acts His Age" and "Guidance and Discipline."

Registration and information can be obtained by calling either the YWCA or Dutchess County College. Child care is available during class at the YWCA.

Dance Workshops at Bennett

The Raymond Johnson Dance Company will perform at Bennett College, Millbrook, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Harkaway Theatre.

This new company was recently formed by Raymond Johnson as a continuation of his work last year as Artistic Director of an Ohio company. Mr. Johnson and members of the Company will be conducting workshops for Bennett Students on October 3 and 4 as part of their Mid-Hudson residency.

The Company's repertory is varied and consists of works by James Waring and Rudy Perez as well as by Mr. Johnson himself. The accompaniment for two of the works (Gottschalk piano pieces and Cott Joplin rags) will be provided by members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

Mr. Johnson, formerly of the Alwin Nikolas Dance Theatre and the Murray Louis Dance Company, has been described by Clive Barnes of the New York Times as a "Choreographer with a sense of humor tinged with the tragic."

The other member of the Company include Ann DeGange, a Juilliard graduate who has performed with the Martha Graham Dance Company; Rick Hood, who has studied with Mary Anthony and performed with Kazuko Hirabayashi; Michael Rivera, has studied with Alfredo Corvino and Bertram Ross and has worked with the Open Theater; Lorna Sinclair, studied with Stuart Hodes at N.Y.U. and has presented her own works at N.Y.U. and Dance Theatre Workshop; and Fern Zand, who has studied dance at N.Y.U. and with Viola Farber as well as having studied and performed with Rudy Perez.

Reservations may be made by calling Bennett College.

Mime Theatre Opens Saturday

The Claude Kipnis Mime Theatre, which has drawn capacity audiences and rave reviews in performances from Paris to Los Angeles, will open the Mount Saint Mary College Cultural Centre Children's Theatre season on Saturday at 2:15 p.m. in Aquinas Hall Theatre, Newburgh.

Reservations may be made by calling the Cultural Centre. The colorful garbed mime troupe will perform "The Magic Hour" featuring the legend of the woodcutter. Music, ballet, drama and pantomime are featured in the ensemble's vignettes.

Claude Kipnis, a Paris-born Israeli who studied under Marcel Marceau, is an acknowledged master of mime, gesture and illusion. His Mime Theatre has been featured at festivals in Paris, Tel-Aviv, London, Los Angeles and New York. He is now head of the mime department at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York.

Three Yodels for the Swiss

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune.

DEAR ABBY: I understand that a few years back, you had a letter in your column from someone who asked why the Swiss were such an arrogant people.

The writer stated that a Swiss will let you know five minutes after you meet him that he is not German, French or Italian — but SWISS.

My ancestors came from Bern, Switzerland. Therefore, I am interested in the way you answered that.

WISCONSINITE DEAR WIS: First, the Swiss are not "arrogant." They are a proud people who have much about which to be proud. They have fresh air

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

and clean government. (Their president serves for one year only, and cannot be re-elected.) They produce the world's finest chocolate, cheeses, watches and precision instruments. Their people are honest, industrious and well-mannered. Their skiing is unbeatable and their banks unbreakable. And if that's not something to yodel about, I don't know what is!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old widower. I have a nice home, a responsible position, good health and an adequate income.

Some time ago, I met an attractive widow and we've been seeing a lot of each other. She's pretty, has a good figure and is a fine cook and housekeeper. We have the same tastes in music, the theatre, sports and literature. We couldn't be better matched had we been selected for each other by computer.

We want to get married, but we have a problem. I have a dog who has been my constant companion for eight years. Never having had children, King was a great comfort to me during my wife's terminal illness. He was like a member of my family.

Unfortunately the lady has a dog and cat to whom she is equally attached. We've tried to bring these animals together without success. Both dogs are big and they fight to the point of trying to kill each other.

If I bring King to the lady's apartment he intimidates her cat, and she snarls and hisses and runs up the curtain.

We've discussed our problem with our friends and they're no help. Frankly, they think we're nuts.

Is there a solution that will work?

WANTS TO MARRY DEAR WANTS: The widow has the advantage, two pets to one. Why not find a good home for King? Or flip a coin to see which dog goes. If King "wins," the cat remains a problem. (If you two "perfectly-matched" humans can't overcome the animal barrier between you, you are indeed "nuts.")

DEAR ABBY: A Florida wife gripes because the bug spray her husband uses on their property makes him passionate. This is a problem? Is it possible to find out what brand of bug spray her husband uses? and if the brand name isn't available, could you please ask her to send her husband?

COULD USE HIM IN OMAHA

DEAR ABBY: I didn't know how to address letters to my daughter who lives with her boyfriend out of town, so I asked my psychiatrist who has a son who lives with his girlfriend. He said he addresses his letters to Jane and John Doe. Now that's what I do.

L.A. MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the "38-year-old professional woman" who wants to have a child to find her "ultimate fulfillment," I have a few thoughts:

My mother was just such a professional woman. She collected a husband, a daughter and a dog to "enrich" her life. The only one who was not damaged by the "enrichment" was the dog.

Babysitters, housekeepers, boarding schools seemed to be the child's lot.

Abby, I agree with your answer and strongly suggest she acquire a dog and two cats and call it a family. Using other human beings to fulfill oneself is worthwhile only if one can give as well as take.

VICTIM

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Tiny Tips

Brow Wows

Neater eyebrows are part of the new face for fall. If eyebrows are unruly, a touch of petroleum jelly will tame them.

Coverup

When trying to cover dark circles under eyes avoid white coverups. They only look unnatural and draw more attention to circles. Choose a color a shade lighter than your skin and blend it under the eyes carefully.

Smart Length

Before buying a short, above-the-knee skirt, ask yourself if you have the legs to show wearing it. There are other skirt lengths available now that may suit you better.

Chicken on the Table Like Money in a Bank

With the cost of living rising almost daily, meal planners need the financial know-how of a Wall Street investment expert to balance the family budget.

One bright spot in the food picture throughout months of steady spiraling prices has been the constant economy of chicken.

The National Broiler Council notes that no other food provides more nutritional benefits at a lower cost per pound than chicken.

Modern and efficient methods have lowered the time and cost of broiler-fryer production through the years so that chicken is one food that costs less in grocery stores today than it did 20 or even 30 years ago.

An added bonus for the homemaker concerned with providing the proper dietary needs for an active and growing family is the fact that chicken can be prepared and served in so many different ways she can include it frequently in meal plans without fear of sameness.

Chicken lends itself to simple, basic dishes that every member of the family likes as well as to gourmet treats planned for special occasions.

That's why the National Broiler Council says, "Putting chicken on the table — for family or guest meals — is almost like putting money in the bank."

You aren't sacrificing your family's good health to economy, either, because chicken provides the complete, quality protein. And it is so low in calories and in fat content that weight-watching friends will praise your thoughtfulness in serving chicken at parties.

Here are two recipes that will enhance your reputation as a culinary expert without giving a hint to your cost-conscious planning:

Apricot Glazed Chicken

One broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
One-half cup apricot preserves
One cup apricot nectar
One tablespoon prepared mustard

One tablespoon soy sauce
One tablespoon lemon juice
In large shallow baking dish place chicken pieces. Combine apricot preserves, nectar, mustard, soy sauce and lemon juice and pour over chicken pieces. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees F. for one hour or until tender. Occasionally baste chicken with sauce during cooking. Serves 4.

Quick Budget Chicken

One broiler-fryer chicken, cut up

One-third cup lemon juice
Two teaspoons salt
One-half teaspoon pepper
One tablespoon minced onion
One teaspoon powdered sage
One teaspoon chopped parsley

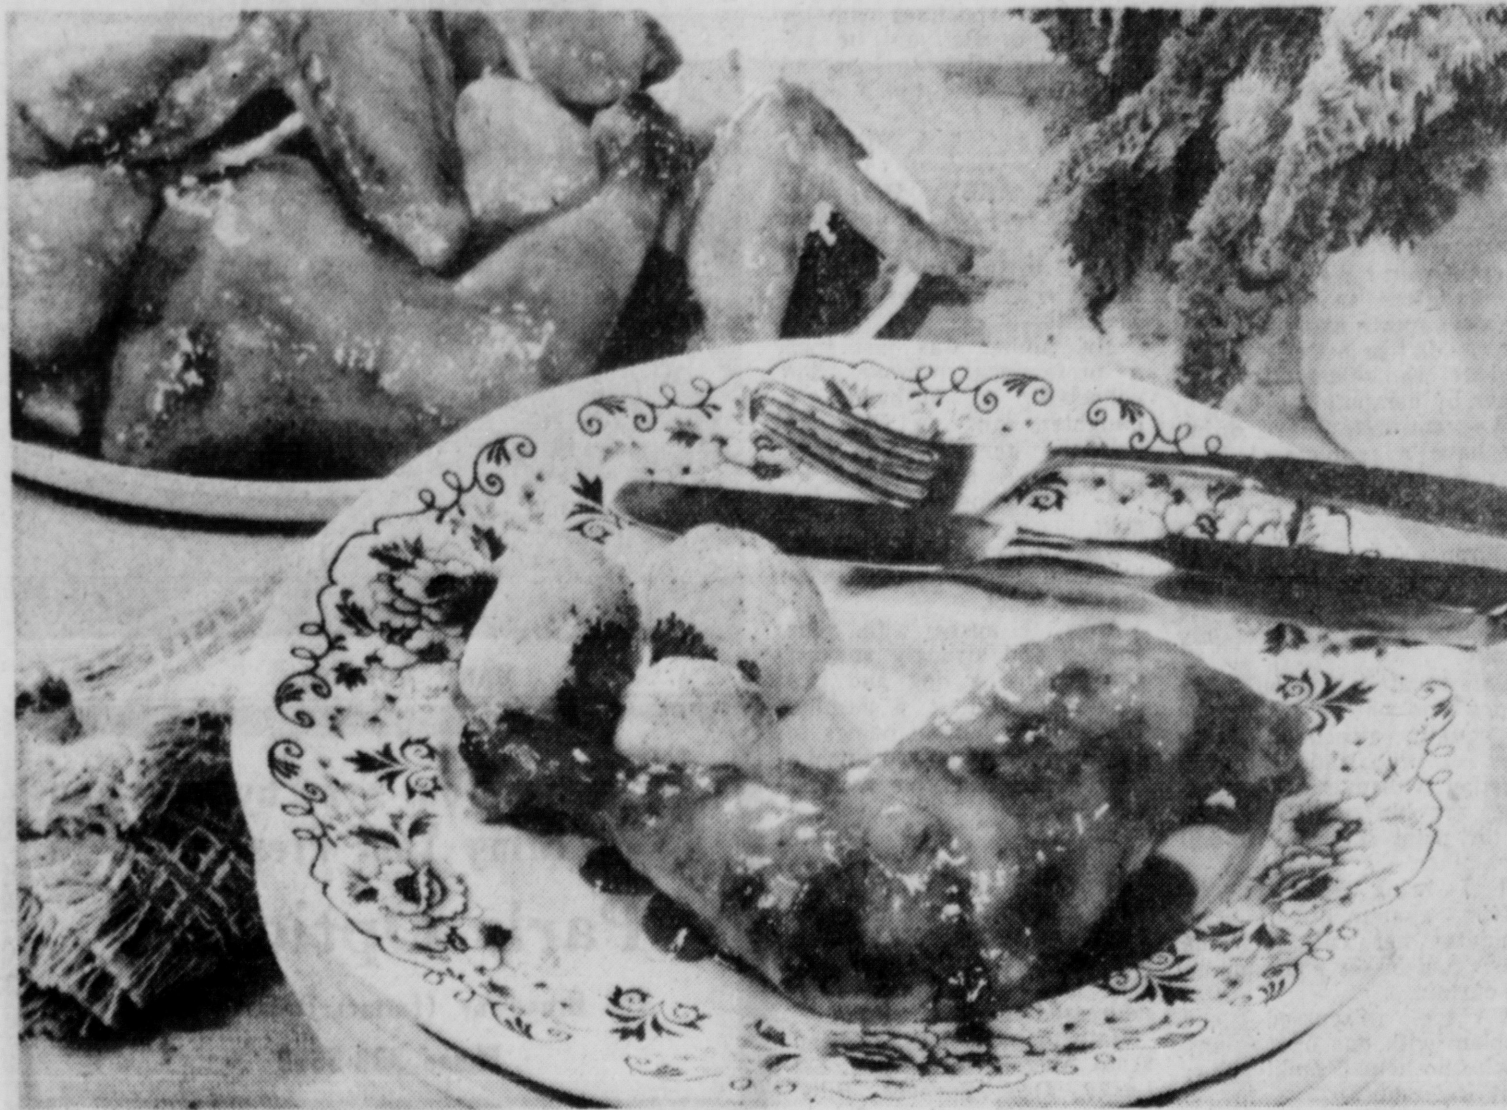

Place chicken pieces in shallow baking dish. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper, onion, sage and parsley. Pour over chicken. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees F. for one hour or until tender. Serves four.

Retail Meat Prices About Same

This week's retail meat prices will glide along at the same level as they have for the past several weeks, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Although there were price fluctuations at wholesale on beef and pork, the changes were not great enough to affect the retail end.

There will be a good variety of beef cuts on sale this week. In the steak line, look for sirloin steak from $1.45 to $1.85, round steak from $1.59 to $1.80, rib steak from $1.40 to $1.89, T-Bone steak from $1.79 to $1.89, and chuck steak, depending on cut and trim, from 69 cents to $1.09.

Roasts on special will be standing rib roast from $1.19 to $1.59, shoulder roast from $1.29 to $1.39, rump roast from $1.55 to $1.69, sirloin tip roast from $1.59 to $1.79 and chuck roast from 85 cents to 99 cents. Other beef items worth shopping for will be frankfurters from 69 cents to 89 cents, ground beef from 67 cents to 95 cents, stew beef from $1.29 to $1.39, and short ribs and beef liver as low as 79 cents.

There will be a fair assortment of pork items worth focusing your attention on — such as pork loin — loin end from 88 cents to 99 cents, pork loin rib end from 78 cents to 99 cents, semi-boneless smoked ham from 85 cents to 90 cents, center cut chops from $1.29 to 1.39, and bacon from 99 cents to $1.29. Other pork specials worth seeking are spareribs from 85 cents to 99 cents, sausage, depending on type, from 89 cents to $1.39, and smoked picnic as low as 49 cents.

Poultry will generally be out of the limelight. However, in some areas, broilers and fryers will be from 39 cents to 48 cents, roasting chickens from 60 cents to 69 cents, and turkey drumsticks from 29 cents to 40 cents.

Specials on lamb and veal, if any, will be few and far between.

Virdon: 'We Just Weren't Good Enough'

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — It just wasn't Bill Virdon's night to celebrate. Things had not gone well for him and the New York Yankees.

Even in the locker room, which was hushed as a funeral parlor, the Yankee manager had trouble getting what he wanted.

Someone handed him a paper cup and he leaned over to take a sip.

"What is this? Beer?" he asked, handing the cup back. "I thought it was milk."

On the field a few minutes earlier Tuesday night, the Yankees lost 3-2 in 10 innings to the Milwaukee Brewers, and with the loss went their last chance for the American League East title.

The loss left the Yanks two games behind Baltimore with only today's game remaining.

Staring at reporters' shoe-tops, Virdon said his Yankees had given "a continual effort," but we just weren't good enough.

It could be argued the Yanks blew it Tuesday night but Virdon wasn't thinking about just that game. His mind was turning back over the whole season and he said he never gave up hope of winning the division despite the fact that very few had figured the once-powerful Yanks would even be in the race.

"I always thought we had a chance," he said, "but we just didn't make it. What we needed was to win one in that last Baltimore series. But we didn't do it."

Asked whether the news who was then singled home by Alex Johnson.

But the Brewers came back with a pair of runs in the eighth. Pinch-hitter Bob Hansen drove the ball to right-center and it went all the way to the wall for a triple when Piniella and Maddox got their signals crossed and let the ball drop between them. Then Don Money drove a liner to center and Maddox' diving attempt to catch it failed. The ball went by him and went to the wall for another triple, allowing Hansen to score.

Money came in on Sixto Lezcano's sacrifice fly. "He (Maddox) was calling for it too," said Piniella of the first triple. "I don't know if he heard me but I take the blame completely. I called for it first and I should have got it."

Maddox agreed they confused each other.

"He called for it so far in advance and I started to slow down," Maddox said.

Maddox said the second triple was "one of those things. I knew I had to come in for it right away but it started sinking fast. It hit my glove before the ground but it still squirted by."

Virdon placed no blame on either of the two players. "If a man's got a chance to catch it, he's got to go for it. They got their wires crossed on the earlier one."

The Yanks missed a chance to score earlier when second baseman Pedro Garcia dropped Piniella's easy pop fly in the fourth. Thurman Munson then doubled but Piniella tripped while rounding second and made it only to third.

Milwaukee starter Kevin Kobel got the next two Yankees to end the threat. In the fatal 10th, Jack Lind led off with a double for Milwaukee and was sacrificed to third. Yankee starter George Medich then walked Money intentionally to get at Lezcano but the Brewer rookie worked Medich for another walk to load the bases. George Scott then singled through the box to drive in the winning run.

"That last inning—there was a lot of pressure," said Medich, who was going for his 20th win but instead got his 15th loss. "You keep telling yourself it's just another ballgame and that helps overcome the pressure."

"But we've got that experience now. Our guys have gone through it and we'll be ready for it next year. One thing for sure, we'll realize games early in the season are more important. If this is remembered next spring, we'll be a much better ball club."

Virdon said he couldn't begrudge the Orioles the division title.

"I can't take any credit away from them the way they played the last three weeks," he said.

Asked whether he was picking Oakland or Baltimore for the AL pennant, he said, "I've got to root for the East."

Orioles' Pattern: Win, Win, Win...

DETROIT (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles are getting as bad as the New York Yankees used to be.

"Win, win, win, that's all we ever do," a celebrating Mark Belanger said in today's early hours.

The Baltimore shortstop was not lording it over the league. He was merely keeping the party going as the Orioles kept the cold duck flowing to observe their fifth American League East Division title in the last six years.

"Come September they said, 'everybody take their respective positions,'" Paul Blair said as he orchestrated the partying. "They said, 'Baltimore—you go to the front of the league.'"

"We knew we could do it. This is the most exciting of any of the division titles. The others, we had them won this one we had to come back to win."

"This was much more rewarding than the others," Belanger said in a more serious moment. "The last month we had to go out and win."

That they did and Baltimore went 27-6 since Aug. 29, the latest victory in an eight-game winning streak coming Tuesday afternoon when Andy Etchebarren's ninth-inning double scored Brooks Robinson with the winning run in a 7-6 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Then the Orioles retired for dinner and a trek to Manager Earl Weaver's suite to listen to the New York-Milwaukee game. John Hiller loose for a surprise if New York lost, which it did, first start but that won't happen now. Houk said Lerrin Lagrow probably will get the division crown.

Weaver placed a telephone call to the broadcast booth at County Stadium in Milwaukee. Blair hollered over to Etchebarren and the Brewers' announcers. "You're playing the phone down next to the microphone, and they listened—"

"I'm playing the first five to all 10 innings. Then I'm leaving." "I'd sure hate to pay that Etchebarren shot back."

GOOD NEWS — Dodgers' pitcher George Zahn (L) pours victory champagne over the head of manager Earl Weaver after LA won the National League West title by beating the Houston Astros, 8-5. (UPI)

Pirates One Away

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Dodgers tasted champagne Tuesday night and the Pittsburgh Pirates are only one victory away from popping the cork.

The Dodgers clinched the National League West title—their first of any kind since 1966—when they defeated the Houston Astros 8-5 while the second place Cincinnati Reds were losing to the Atlanta Braves 7-1.

The Pirates, meanwhile, moved within one game of clinching the NL East title by trimming the Chicago Cubs 6-5 while the St. Louis Cardinals were losing to the Montreal Expos 3-2. The Pirates host the Cubs again tonight while the Cardinals play at Montreal.

The Dodgers, playing at Houston, knew they had become division champions before their game was over as the Braves pummeled the Reds behind the four-hit pitching of Buzz Capra. When the Houston scoreboard flashed, "Dodgers, N.L. Champs. Congratulations," Astro officials ignoring the fact Los Angeles must win the playoff series to take the pennant—the Dodger dugout erupted in backslapping celebration.

"It feels great. I'm proud of each and every one of my ballplayers," said Dodger Manager Walter Alton. "We've been improving all year long and I don't see any reason for that to change now."

"This is a tremendous ball club," added Dodger outfielder Jim Wynn. "Whoever wins in the Eastern Division, they've got to contend with the best team in the world."

Steve Garvey collected two hits and became the first major leaguer to collect 200 hits and 100 RBIs in one season in sparking the Dodger victory. Don Sutton went five innings to earn his 19th win against nine losses.

Pittsburgh, the most troublesome team for Los Angeles all season, moved in as the Dodgers' likely opponent after Bob Robertson's two-run homer in the eighth gave the Pirates a come-from-behind victory over the Cubs.

Oddly, while the Pirates were winning via the home run, the Cardinals were losing the same way. Mike Jorgensen clubbed a two-run shot off Bob Gibson in the eighth inning to spark the Expos' win.

Robertson, a part-time player now who once starred in a World Series for the Pirates, said the home run was one of the biggest thrills of his career.

"I don't laugh much but I really wanted to laugh then," said Robertson. "I don't know why. I just did. I was really thrilled when I crossed the plate and Sangy (Manny Sanguillen) had his arms up and the guys jumped on me. I felt real proud that I contributed. I've never been on a losing club and that means a lot to me. This club plays best when we're behind. When that St. Louis score went up on the board, the whole club just bore down because we didn't want a tie or a playoff on Thursday. I'd say we have the edge now."

Manager Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals had to agree. "It makes the ice a little thin for us right now," said the veteran manager in the silent Cardinals dressing room at Montreal. "I don't know what to say on a night like this. There were some great fielding plays during the game."

The Cardinals were leading 2-1 with two out in the eighth when Willie Davis singled and Jorgensen followed with his 11th homer.

"I was considering using reliever Al Hrabosky but Gibson was doing such an excellent job that I didn't want to take him out," said Schoendienst.

Catcher Ted Simmons also said he felt Gibson pitched an excellent game.

Robby to Be Named Indians' Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Robinson, the only man to win the Most Valuable Player Award in both the National and American Leagues, will become the first black manager in Major League Baseball history Thursday when he will be named player-manager of the Cleveland Indians. It has been learned.

Robinson, who will succeed Ken Aspromonte as manager, will also retain both his current role of designated hitter and his $173,000 a year salary, making him the highest paid manager in baseball history.

The Indians obtained the 39-year-old Robinson on waivers from the California Angels two and a half weeks ago and the immediate speculation was that he was purchased not only for his hitting ability but also to replace Aspromonte as manager. This speculation gained credence last week when Aspromonte was fired.

Robinson will become the major league's first player-manager since 1952 when Lou Boudreau handled both jobs with the Boston Red Sox, getting into four games as a player that year. It was Boudreau in 1948 who led the Indians to a world championship when he served as player-manager.

"So far as I know, it's not official," said Robinson, who was with the Indians in Boston for Tuesday night's game.

But when questioned further by newsmen, Robinson did assess the Indians personnel in a general way.

"There is some good young talent on this club," he said. "It's a type team that can move because it's young. The older a player gets, the more set in his ways he becomes."

The toughest thing about managing is not that I am black. I hope they would hire me more for my qualifications than for that. But after rubbing elbows with these guys, it would be a funny feeling, realizing you'll be the man and you can't do things like go out drinking with them anymore."

Robinson's only previous managerial experience came in the Puerto Rican Winter League where he managed the Santurce Club for five winters. Robinson succeeded present Baltimore Orioles manager Earl Weaver as manager of Santurce and it was Weaver who recommended Robinson for the Santurce job.

There's no question about his baseball knowledge, and he has shown he can lead men," says Santurce Club owner and president Hiram Cuevas. "You need the same prerequisites to manage in the major leagues as you do to manage in our league."

"If you can manage in Puerto Rico, you can manage anywhere," says Weaver. "I think Frank will make a good major league manager. I've thought that way for a long time."

UCAL Cross Country Roundup

Coleman and New Paltz Roll

HIGHLAND Ulster County Athletic League front-runners Coleman and New Paltz High Schools made it two in a row Tuesday with victories over divisional foes.

The Statesmen, defending league champions, had an easy time at Highland, tripping the Big Blue 15-40. New Paltz, meanwhile, got another first place effort from ace long distance man Lorenzo Simmons in a 15-44 victory over Walkkill.

Elsewhere, Red Hook rebounded from last week's loss to Coleman by scoring an important 21-38 triumph over Marlboro. Pine Bush surprised Onteora, 18-37, and Fallsburgh upended Ellenville, 22-33. The Rondout-Liberty meet was postponed.

Coleman coach Joe Keller said "everybody likes the Highland course," after his home side, and it was easy to see why what with Coleman sweeping the first seven places and eight out of the top ten.

Young Eric Schroeter beat out his hearaid mates Tom Nee, Rich Gromek, and Jim Rioux to take top honors for the Statesmen. Schroeter's 11:45 clocking was two seconds faster than Nee's 11:46.

Paul Davison led the way for Highland.

Simmons, who looks like the No. 1 runner in the UCAL, led Walkkill's course in 14:14 to beat out Hugie Charlie Bevier by 17 seconds. Bill Capuano's 6th place effort led Walkkill (1-1).

Red Hook's exciting sophomore Mark Gravino romped to victory at his team's home meet. Gravino's 13:53 was nearly a minute better than the 14:46 recorded by Raider harrier Mike Mahoney.

Lou Kovas and Ed Bozday placed third and fourth respectively for the Dukes, considered one of the better teams in the league, but Red Hook clinched the win when Bill Scagis, Jay Leske, and Doug Traudt took the Nos. 5 through 7 positions. At Boiceville, Pine Bush became Onteora's second conqueror as Gary Schouten raced home first in 10:22 and Al Schmidt followed 11 seconds later. Mark Woodward of Onteora was third in 10:43.

"I thought it would be a closer meet," admitted OCS coach Bernie Stahl. "My boys ran their best times this season, but Pine Bush was tough."

Harris Marcus of Ellenville came in first for his team against Fallsburgh, but the Comets took the next four positions to beat the Ellices.

Saugerties Splits

POUGHKEEPSIE Saugerties High School's cross country team broke into the victory column for the first time this Dutchess County Scholastic League season Wednesday with a 15-48 victory over Spackenkill at Our Lady of Lourdes course.

Lourdes forced the Sawyers to take a split on the day by beating Saugerties, 25-30. The Poughkeepsie Warriors also defeated Spackenkill, 15-50.

"The boys are improving," said first year coach Ron Buzon of Saugerties, whose first victory came Friday with a 27-31 non-league verdict over Onteora. "The top three boys — Tom Brand, Dennis Holmquist, and Ron Sickler — have been looking good, and a freshman, Tom Miller, also has done a fine job."

Tom Stewart of Lourdes was the day's top runner with a 12:54 clocking. Brand of Saugerties was runner-up, six seconds off Stewart's pace.

Spackenkill's leading harrier was Bill Siegart, but he didn't cross the finish line until 13 said first year coach Ron Buzon of his competitors had beaten him to it.

Next action for Saugerties is a home meet next Tuesday

Mrs. Riftenbary Swim Official

KINGSTON

The appointment of Mrs. George C. Riftenbary as representative in the Kingston area has been announced by the officers and executive committee chairmen of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of New York State Certified Swimming Officials.

The responsibility of the area representative is to recruit and inform prospective officials of their duties and obligations with respect to the association and to encourage greater participation among swimming enthusiasts.

Much emphasis has been placed on age-group swimming in this area over a period of years. It is hoped that as a result of the enthusiasm and interest of parents, summer swim coaches and others, a good representation can be obtained.

Swimming clinics have been announced for Marlboro High on Oct. 8; Suffern High, Oct. 10; Pine Bush High, Oct. 11. Deck work and rules will be discussed by Ed Duncanson of Pine Bush.

The Practical Exam will be held Oct. 22 at Marlboro, Oct. 24 at Suffern and Oct. 25 at Pine Bush. Tom Albright, vice president of the association, will preside.

Mrs. Riftenbary has urged all interested persons to contact her for further information. The Mid-Hudson Chapter of NYSCSO is approved by the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference and the New York State Public High School Athletic Association.

Interested persons in the Ulster and Dutchess area may contact Mrs. Riftenbary at her home on Flower Hill, Kingston for further details.

Onteora Loses Hockey Game

GERMANTOWN

Several lapses by the Onteora defense in the first half enabled Germantown High to score two goals and defeat the Ulster team 2-0 in a girl varsity field hockey game. Ann Harder and Lalie Rymke scored the Germantown goals.

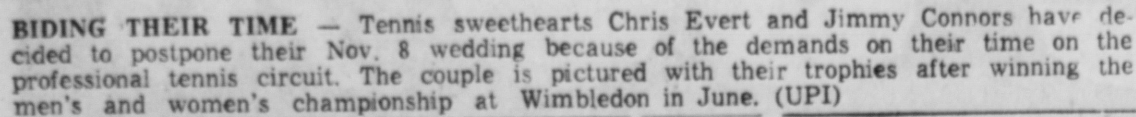

The OCS defense was more effective in the second half largely through the efforts of Cindy Baldus. Co-captain Anita Shults missed the game because of a minor injury.

"Our offense just couldn't jell," said Coach Carol Okoren. "and although we had several scoring opportunities the ball eluded the goal."

Doyle Golf Champ

Dick Doyle put together a 34-40 74 to win the 1974 Dinsmore Golf Club championship by a two-stroke margin over Tim Freeman who carded 34-42-76.

POUGHKEEPSIE "Our goalie hit one of the Dutchess players on the head with his kick," Vizvary explained. "Our defense was walking away when Paul Sassos just scored from in front of the goal with the rebound.

Cliﬀ Dodson, former Washingtonville High star, put a shot under the stomach of Uster goalie John Bertuna to make it 2-1 in the second half before Navas came up with his last last-second heroics.

Vizvary was highly critical of the officiating and protested the banishment of Franklin Hill. "As I saw it," said the UCC coach, "Hill was thrown out of the game because he was jumping for the ball with the goal keeper. The official claimed my player (Hill) had two warnings on him, but I didn't hear any."

Why did a UCCC team that had been sensational against four-year colleagues in pre-season tournaments do so badly in the Mid-Hudson Conference opener?

"The No. 2 national rating didn't help us," said Vizvary. "Everybody is pointing at us and Dutchess was up for us. They have a good, solid team and I think they'll surprise a few people before the season is over."

Vizvary saw a ray of light in the unexpected setback. "We had good poise throughout the game and that's a good sign," he said. "It's going to be a tough season in the Mid-Hudson Conference. Orange beat Westchester today and Post Junior also has a good team."

For the record, Uster outshot Dutchess in shots on goal, 27-13, and had a 12-4 edge in corner kicks. Goalsaves were Dutchess 26, Uster 15.

The Senators will see just how good Post is in the official home opener Saturday at 2 p.m.

Vizzey described Willie Navas' tying goal in the last two seconds as a 'real fluke.' "The ball was three feet over the end line when one of the Dutchess players kicked it back and crossed it over his own net. Willie just jumped and headed the ball into an empty net."

Simon Curkovic put Ulster ahead 1-0 about 10 minutes into the first half, but 10 minutes later the Falcons tied it up with a shot by Paul Sisso that also crossed the goal line, but hit the crossbar.

BY JOE CARNICELLI

Throughout the first half of the World Football League season, Portland was considered a soft spot on the schedule. That spot suddenly has turned hard.

Storm Coach Dick Coury, who openly admitted early in the year that he had a bad team, scoured the National Football League waiver lists and came up with some fresh talent. The result was an almost complete turnaround, especially on defense.

and this was his best example of last week when Portland upset Birmingham. The Americans entered the game with an 11-1 record.

Portland plays host to another on the league's powerhouses. Southern California, tonight and Sun Coach Tom Fears, whose team is 9-4 with a formidable 4½-game lead in the West, is especially tough.

"This week's game will be especially tough," Fears said. "Portland is one of the toughest improved teams in the league. passes this season. led the way. They were tough when we played them at home but Coach us, "Fears said. "He's calling Coury has been doing an less conservative game now outstanding job and they have and mixing up his plays more added some players that have which has really helped out helped them. They should be a passing."

The biggest change for Portland has been the addition of NFL veteran Pete Beathar as a 57 at quarterback. It was Beathar's winning streak to four games with a 7 out of Jacksonville last week hard who ignited the Storm's win as rookie quarterback Tony drive that lifted the Storm to Adams, who has 15 touchdown the upset of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davenport of High Falls, one of Ulster County's best known golf couples, won low gross honors in the abbreviated, rain-swept third annual Ulster County Golf Crusade at Rondout Golf Club.

Because of a steady downpour which reduced the greens to miniature lakes, making putting nearly impossible, the tournament committee decided to limit the competition to nine holes.

Davenport posted a one-over-par 37 to lead the men's gross division and Mrs. Davenport Betty led the women with 44.

Rich Aaron, professional at The Granit, led a small group of pros with 37.

There was a four-way tie at 35 for low net honors in the men's division in the 62-player field. On matching of cards, prizes were awarded in the following order: Dave Blakely, Bob Linehan, Phil Buchanan and Richard Dammier.

Frances Turck won low net honors for women in a matching of cards after a tie at net 36.

Zita Petersen and Dot Rifenbary tied with net 39, with Zita winning third place on matching of cards.

Mrs. Oscar Johnson of Stone Ridge, served as tournament chairman and was assisted by her husband as assistant chairman.

STONE RIDGE are Debbie Ballard of Woodstock; Bethé Bolte and Sandra West of Tannersville; Barbara Carlson of Elka Park; Cynthia Ewell; Windham; Pam Thomas and Yvie Reynolds of Tillson; Debbie Beilman and Debbie Kortright of Ellenville; Ines Heidhausen, Saugerties; Wanda Rivera, Wallkill; and Lisa Burkard of Kerhonkson.

The team has a 10-game schedule. Oct. 4 at Sullivan; Oct. 7, Orange; Oct. 12 at Bronx Community; Oct. 21, Sullivan; Nov. 6 at Rockland; Nov. 13 at New Paltz State; Nov. 20, at Dutchess, Kings College.

KINGSTON Mel Williams was the winning pitcher in both games, with the losses going to John Cook Sr.

La Lima's Barber Shop scored a pair of close victories over Greco Motors, 4-3 and 8-6, in the final playoff series in the Sunday Slow Pitch League.

Dick Burris had three hits and John Cook Jr., a homer and two singles in the 4-3 game.

Drew Pinkham hit a double and two singles for Greco's and Gerard Boggs doubled twice for LaLima's in the 8-6 contest.

Britain's Conteh Wins Light-Heavy Laurels

By ANTHONY NICHOLAS
WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — John Conteh, Britain's new light-heavyweight, is out Conteh in a close and hard fight for the best offer he can get to fight tonight will be pressing defend the title, his manager for a return bout.

Brazil's Fabulous Pele Plays Last Game Tonight

SANTOS, Brazil (AP) — The "King" is retiring. Pele will play his final soccer game tonight on the same field where he started his remarkable career 18 years ago.

Heralded as the greatest of soccer players, Pele wants to be known by his real name, Edson Arantes do Nascimento, a successful and wealthy industrialist.

Admitting it will be hard to adjust to life out of the limelight, Pele said there will be some advantages.

"For one thing, I think that now I'll be able to take my family to the beach. It's been years since I've done that."

Scoring more than 1,000 goals, Pele led Brazil to three world championships, the first in 1958 when he was 17 years old. Brazil also won the title in 1962 and 1970. Pele was injured in 1966 and England won the Cup that year. Pele did not play on Brazil's 1974 team.

Pele has been one of the most popular athletes in the world. Officials in Seville, Spain once canceled the bullfights so fans could watch Pele on television.

The Brazilian government, once fearful that a European team was preparing to purchase Pele's contract, declared the soccer star a national monument and thus ineligible to be removed from the country.

Almost 34 Pele actually ended his professional career last year. Since then, he has donated his salary to charities.

Since announcing his retirement plans three years ago, he has been expanding his business enterprises. Besides Pele coffee, Pele clothes, Pele rubber bands and the Pele comput-

"I would like a return in London or the States," Ahumada said as he sat in his dressing room nursing a damaged eye with an ice pack.

"After tonight's fight, I would think the World Boxing Association would demand a return between these two fighters," said his manager, Gil Clancy. "Who else is there around at this weight to challenge Conteh?"

Referee Harry Gibbs gave Conteh five clear rounds over Ahumada at the fight Tuesday night at Wembley's Empire Pool for the World Boxing Council version of the world title.

Conteh got his chance for the fight when champion Bob Foster refused to fight him after Foster had drawn with Ahumada last June. The result brought Conteh $240,000 in purse money and ancillary rights.

Conteh's success brought the title to Britain for the first time for 25 years, when the late Freddie Mills won it.

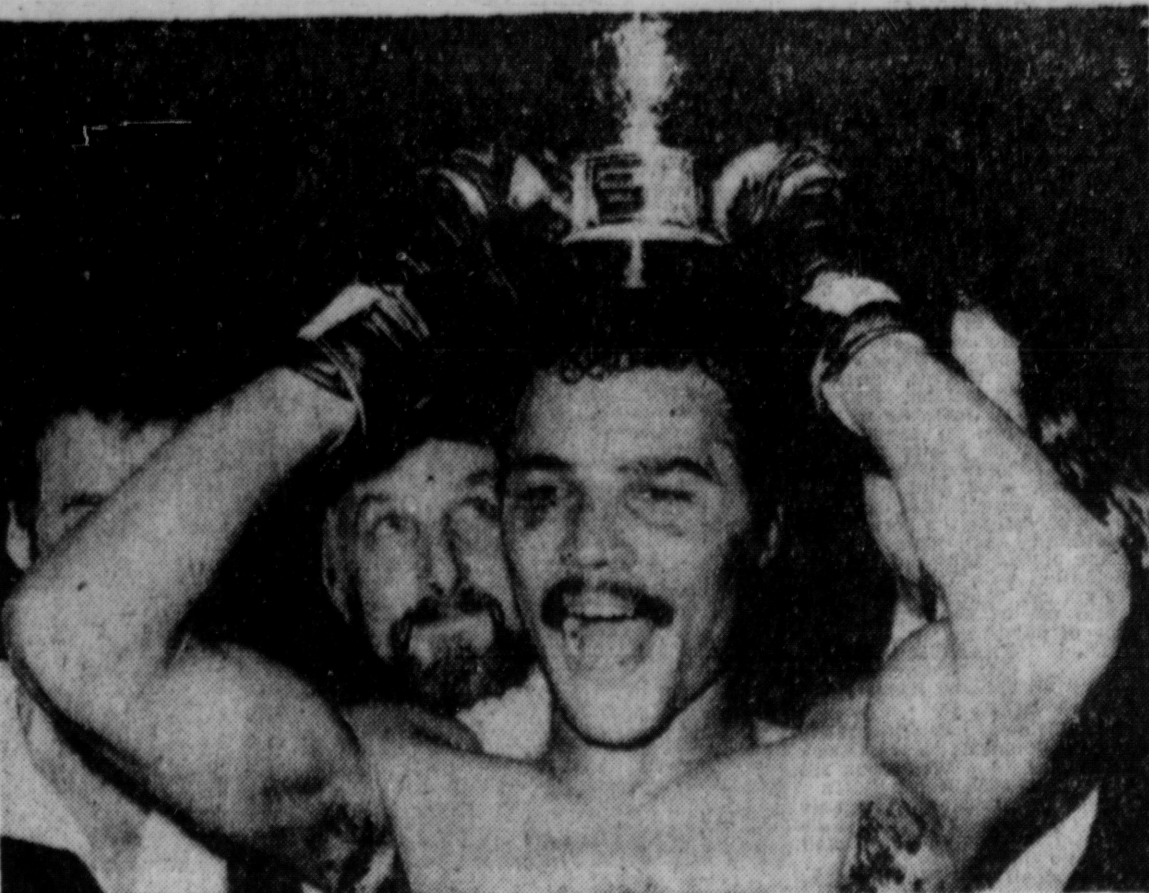

Conteh was at times looking for a chance to throw the big punch to stop Ahumada inside the distance but the tough Ahumada never gave him a real opening.

Conteh said Ahumada was game and strong. "At times I thought I had him wobbling from left hooks but he came back like a bull," he said.

"Ahumada, I thought, had Conteh going a couple of times with some vicious left hooks," Clancy said. "But give the English boy his due. He came back again and again and my boy could never catch up on the points."

Clancy said he had no complaints about the decision. "By the 12th, I found my boy had a big margin to catch up on. But instead of coming forward, he seemed to want to fight Conteh toe-to-toe."

Clancy said he would be taking Ahumada back to New York Wednesday. But he made it clear he expects his man to get another chance at the title.

CROWNING HIMSELF — A jubilant John Conteh of Great Britain places trophy atop his head after winning the vacant WBC version of the world light-heavyweight championship by outpointing Argentine's Jorge Ahumada in Wembley, England Tuesday night. (UPI)

Soviet Skaters Lead

MOSCOW (UPI) — Just because the Soviet Union scored three goals to two against Team Canada Tuesday doesn't mean Canadian goal-tender Gerry Cheevers was falling down on the job.

In fact Cheevers at times looked like one of those Hindu divinities with arms and legs sprouting all over the place as he fended off the waves of Soviet attacks.

The Soviets' victory in the first of four Moscow games gave them a 2-1 edge in their series against the Canadian National Hockey team.

Each side won a game and drew two when the Soviets toured Canada last month. The Russians outdid the Canadians in everything—skating, attacking, defending—even aggression. Everything, in fact, except goaltending since Vladislav Tretiak was really never tested.

Cheevers stopped 27 shots while Tretiak turned away 16. The figures hardly reflect the Russians' high-pressure attack in the last 15 minutes of the game.

There was a time when the Soviets wagged fingers at the Canadians for rough play. But in this game, the Russians vied energetically with Team Canada in hooking, slapping,

Matuszak Case Under Study

HOUSTON (UPI) — A state appeals court has taken under advisement a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction which halted giant defensive lineman John Matuszak's attempt to jump from the NFL Houston Oilers to the WFL Shreveport Steamer.

Cunningham Again A 76er

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Forward Billy Cunningham, the subject of a court dispute between the rival National and American Basketball Associations, played with the NBA Philadelphia 76ers Tuesday night in an exhibition game here.

Cunningham, an all-pro in both leagues, played the last game of the season with the 76ers, scored 12:04 of the game and scored six points in the 76ers' 106-98 loss to the ABA champion New York Nets.

The 6-foot-7 forward, who jumped to the ABA two years ago after seven seasons with the Philadelphia 76ers, rejoined the earlier in the day although validity of court battles between the NBA club and the ABA Spirits of St. Louis remained unresolved.

"My lawyers thought I have the legal right to be with the 76ers, so I'm here to play," Cunningham said before boarding the team bus in Philadelphia.

He said the NFL practices challenged by Matuszak—the player draft, option clauses and the Rozelle Rule—were necessary in order for the league to survive.

Did you ever think you'd be able to afford living on an Estate in Hyde Park, complete with swimming pools, tennis courts, putting green, playground, etc., etc. Well if you're among the lucky few to purchase a 1 or 2 bedroom Riverside at Hyde Park Apartment, Home, you'll not only be able to afford these luxuries, you might even save money in the process.

The Condominium way of life produces a mini-community providing its inhabitants with conveniences they could never afford on their own.

A Condominium is purchased just like a house... and therefore provides all the advantages of home ownership. Advantages such as the building of equity, freedom to decorate as you please, ability to sell, and the distinct possibility of realizing a profit from the sale. With each payment your equity increases. A far cry from the worthless pile of rental receipts that result from monthly payments on an apartment. Not to mention the tax advantages... which can be considerable.

Condominiums even offer advantages over private homes. Aside from the obvious fact that they offer superior value than comparably priced homes, they provide owners with more leisure time, recreational facilities and social benefits. Household chores such as landscaping and snow shoveling are taken care of by professionals.

The sponsor is Riverside at Hyde Park Condominium, Inc., the principals of the organization being among the most active Real Estate Developers in the Hudson Valley Area since 1967. While this group was constructing The Mall at Hyde Park, they had the foresight to purchase property bordered by the Roosevelt Estate, a Federal Forest Reserve and The Mall. A study into the housing requirements and desirability of the location coupled with the amazing growth and success of the Condominium concept resulted in the RIVERSIDE project.

So look us over... and look over our competition. Condominium living has advantages over most houses and apartments. And RIVERSIDE at Hyde Park has advantages over most Condominiums. This is why we call RIVERSIDE—THE CONDOMINIUM—at Hyde Park.

Our Model and Information Center is located in the Bankers Trust Building at The Mall at Hyde Park adjacent to the Roosevelt Library & Home.

We are open daily from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M.

Your Astrograph

Thursday, October 3

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Something regarding finances is likely to get you a bit uptight. After you think things through you'll see it'll work OK.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let the petty remarks of a small thinker spoil your fun if you're out among friends today. They'll not sully much of merit in her comments, either.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There's a lot more opportunity in something that you're involved in than you think. Better take a hard second look.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're more fortunate in dealing with several individuals at once than you are on a one-to-one basis. It's a good day for committee work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A minimal but frustrating stumbling block will be removed through a lucky circumstance. This will make what you want to achieve easier.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be blinded by the little details in an important decision you'll be making. Get the big picture, then fit in the parts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In a venture that you share, don't be too quick to say what you expect. You'll get a better deal if you let the other party arrange it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to over-control situations today. They are likely to come out more fortunate for you if left on their own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's a contact you know through your family who might be just the right person to help you with a difficult task. Try him.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Follow your own hunches today rather than listen to a friend who may not be as lucky with something as you would be.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is a good time to try to wrap up any deal you have where something of material value is an issue.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Discard your small ideas temporarily. Give more thought and attention to something bigger you want to accomplish.

Oct. 3, 1974

Things look very promising for you this year where your work or career is concerned. Keep alert for a marvelous opportunity coming your way. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PAST: (Q.) I've been busted for pot, drinking, walking out of a restaurant and not paying the check, and other minor things. I've finally wised up and promised myself I won't do any more crazy things.

But how do I get my parents to believe me? I am 17 and female.—Reformed in Texas.

(A.) You say you have your habits. You also must change your attitudes. What you have done in the past, for instance, is not minor, and you should not take the attitude that it is. You should also try to be less belligerent.

Your parents in time will see from your new habits and your new attitudes that you have indeed changed. Then they will believe what you say to them.

SITTER: (Q.) My family is not too rich and I am looking for a job. The idea of baby-sitting came to me. What do you think about it? And how can I advertise for customers? I can't pay for ads in the newspaper.—14 in New York.

(A.) Baby-sitting is a good way for a responsible girl to make extra money if she is careful to see that her customers are as responsible as she is. You should ask your parents to help you find jobs in which you will be personally safe. To find people who need your help, make up small, neat cards in your own handwriting or printing, giving your telephone number and prices you expect to charge. Visit neighbors with small children, introduce yourself, and leave a card. If you live in an apartment complex, also put your cards on the bulletin boards.

(Write to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2482, Houston, Texas 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received Jean Adams cannot send personal answers.)

Board 11 of the Olympiad fund game is a test of both bidding and play. North and South should get to six diamonds. It is a good contract and will be reached easily if South's first rebid is in diamonds. It doesn't matter if North's first response is two clubs or three clubs. He can barge into Blackwood as soon as South bids the diamond suit.

The best lead is a diamond. South should win in dummy and decide that his best line of play is to play to set up dummy by ruffing out one heart and possibly one club.

Then he leads dummy's king of hearts. East will take his ace and lead a second trump which South also wins in dummy. Then South plays the

Tribute Is Paid Justice Bruhn

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON—Tribute was paid Tuesday afternoon to the late Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, whom his colleagues called a man of courage, as a real American... as a member of the armed forces and in his lengthy illness.

Members of the Ulster County Bar Association, with four Supreme Court Justices in attendance as well as three county-level judges, memorialized the Kingston native and their friend at the Ulster County Court House, prior to the opening of the October term of Supreme Court with Justice George L. Cobb presiding.

It was Justice Bruhn's close friend, Charles Gaffney who first spoke of the jurist's courage and it was Justice Cobb who labeled Judge Bruhn, a man of strong conviction who had the courage to make these convictions known.

sound thinking." He suggested, Wendall Harp and Richard Overbagh, members of the Bar told of their associations with Justice Bruhn over the years with Harp referring to him as "constant as the north star" a man who earned the support of both political parties and Overbagh lauding him as an avid student of law... a man who showed great interest in trial and disposition of cases and one who consistently refused offers for posts in the Appellate Division.

Bar Association president Norman Kellar took part in the ceremonies as did Supreme Court Justice Harold Hughes, Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, Family Court Judge Bernard A. Feeney Jr. and County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

A former confidential law clerk of Justice Bruhn, Kingston attorney Joseph Hill remembered Judge Bruhn's "unique ability at law research. His vast knowledge marks him as one of the greatest jurists to ever ascend the bench in Ulster County," he said.

"We are impoverished by his passing but comforted by priceless remembrances we cherish," he said.

Justice Larkin recalled that it was Judge Bruhn who only a few short years ago welcomed him to the bench. He referred to him as acutely aware of human dimension of things and a lawyer who was always firm in his rulings and determination. "We have lost an outstanding jurist. Men of his stature are hard to replace," Justice Larkin said.

Associate Justice of the Appellate Division, Lawrence Cooke of Monticello, also attended the ceremonies, saying that Justice Bruhn's "opinions stand as a shining example of

Second Bicycle Ordinance Is Approved by Council

KINGSTON—The Common Council approved its second bicycle ordinance in less than four months Tuesday night. It will take effect after a public hearing by the mayor and his signature.

The new ordinance, unlike its predecessor signed into law by the mayor in July, is said to be enforceable and easier for the police department to administer.

Unlike the old law, which was repealed, it does not cover all riders of bikes in the city; only residents of the city. Out of towners can pass through without having to register with the police and affix tags to their bikes.

Persons under 16 will need parental permission to register their bikes. In the case of violations, a written reprimand will be issued to the youngster. The second violation results in suspension of 30 days and a hearing. Failure by parents to appear at the hearing could cost them $25 or 10 days in jail or both. Adults who violate the ordinance face the same penalties, sans the letter of reprimand.

The council also heard a call for a parking commission, as advocated by Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D-12th Ward), Council majority leader and chairman of the Traffic Committee.

Mancuso, who spearheaded the drive for new parking meters in the city is quite "disturbed" with the results to date. The meters are coming in and are being set up — 569 are in with 47 to go of the new nickel-dime meters — but some people have been removing them.

"I feel we're being made a mockery of," he said. "We mean business about these meters," Mancuso said. The missing meters reportedly don't add up to more than a dozen but Mancuso apparently sees a trend. He feels, like numerous other aldermen, that the time for a parking commission is long overdue.

Alderman Brian D. Smith (R-Third Ward), a member of Mancuso's committee, agreed with Mancuso's complaints, but then offered some of his own.

He again assailed the city for not doing something about debris and underbrush on a vacant lot off Linderman Avenue next to No. 126.

Smith's complaint about the traffic hazards at the intersections of Wall Street, Fair Street, Greenkill Avenue and Route 32 (it's all one in intersections of Wall Street, Fair Street) drew considerably more interest.

Smith said he wrote the police department inquiring about traffic lights there but was told that there had been only three accidents this year. "The reason my request was denied was because there hasn't been enough traffic accidents there," he said.

Smith went on to say he had contacted the American Automobile Association which offered to do a free traffic survey but that the mayor's approval was needed. The mayor will be contacted.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, Mancuso's committee, agreed with Mancuso's complaints, but then offered some of his own.

Koenig notes the Rondout Neighborhood Center is a completed and that the recreation department has taken it over for its headquarters with the Ulster County Community Action Committee being moved down the street. The building needs a new roof, shrubs and some furniture. Koenig's estimates were referred to the Finance Committee.

The Historic Landmarks Preservation Commission is asking for designation of seven buildings in the Stockade area. They include Nos. 28 and 83-95 Green Street, 299 Wall Street, Nos. 226-236 and 209 Fair Street, 26 Pearl Street and 88 Maiden Lane.

School Attendance Rises in Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — A handful of black and white students fought in South Boston High School Tuesday, the 14th day of a court-ordered busing plan designed to desegregate public schools. Nine persons were arrested in other incidents.

But citywide attendance rose to the highest of the school year.

Officials said a white student was suspended at South Boston High after he threw a chair at a group of blacks in the library of the school which has been the target of classroom boycotts and antibusing demonstrations. Prior to Tuesday, all violence took place outside the building.

The incident occurred as white attendance at the school continued to rise, showing a possible erosion of the white boycott. The School Department said 471 students — 280 white, 176 black and 15 other minorities — went to school Tuesday, compared 396 on Monday. There were only 117 whites at school Monday.

In other incidents, five black youths were arrested in an attempted handbag snatching incident at Dorchester High School; three white men were taken into custody outside a South Boston bar when they shouted obscenities at police, and a 14-year-old black youth was arrested for stoning a bus in suburban Dorchester.

Citywide attendance on Tuesday reached 78.2 per cent, excluding kindergarten which is not affected by the busing order, compared to 77.2 per cent Monday. Attendance Tuesday, including kindergarten, was 80.2 per cent, up nearly 1 per cent from Monday.

A one-day citywide school boycott has been called for Friday as part of a national protest against busing. While school officials say they plan to crack down on truancy, they concede it is unlikely the machinery for enforcement can be put into effect in time to deter the boycott.
